

HAMBURGER HILL WOUNDED AWAIT EVACUATION FROM BATTLE SCENE

Army Says It's Worth It

SAIGON (AP) — The U. S. Command said today that the 10-day battle for 3,000-foot Dong Ap Bia appeared to be "a real fine operation from our point of view."

"We are not fighting for terrain as such," said a spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U. S. forces in Vietnam. "We are going after the enemy. Relative casualties is one way to measure it. They're working on cleaning out the enemy."

U. S. spokesmen said the number of North Vietnamese troops killed was revised to 454 as American paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division continued to find bodies in the ruins of bunkers on the mountain overlooking the A Shau Valley. U. S. casualties also were revised upward, to 46 killed and 308 wounded.

The kill ratio was nearly 10 North Vietnamese to one American, while the ratio in all operations covered by the last two weekly casualty reports has been 7 or 8 enemy killed to one allied soldier.

In the U. S. Senate Tuesday, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-

Mass., charged that such operations as the assault on Dong Ap Bia were "both senseless and irresponsible," and that American lives were being "sacrificed for military pride."

"We don't comment on what senators say," said the spokesman for Abrams, then gave the explanation of the operation that in effect was a reply to Kennedy.

A spokesman for Maj. Gen. Melvin Zais, commander of the 101st Airborne, also would not comment directly on Sen. Kennedy's remark.

After 10 assaults were beaten back, about 1,500 U. S. paratroopers and South Vietnamese infantrymen took the mountain top Tuesday and sent the remaining North Vietnamese fleeing across the Laotian border. U. S. artillery and aircraft had pounded the enemy positions constantly, but the North Vietnamese were entrenched in deep bunkers.

"It was a great victory for a gutsy bunch of guys," said Gen. Zais.

During the height of the fighting Zais told newsmen one option open to him was to pull his paratroopers off the mountain and "bring in more firepower," meaning planes and artillery.

"But you hate to give up the ground you've gained," Zais said then. "You'll have to fight just as hard to retake it. Backing off is one thing that commanders hate to do."

ENEMY ROCKET SERIOUSLY WOUNDS U.S. TROOPER

Spacemen Gear for Risky Exploration Try

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The Apollo 10 astronauts, captives of lunar gravity and feeling "just great," plunged toward the moon today to begin their risky orbital exploration mission.

At 9 a.m. EDT the astronauts were 21,782 miles from the moon and approaching it at 2,668 miles per hour. The astronauts were still sleeping.

The 47-ton spacecraft passed into the gravity pull of the moon at 2:40 a.m. EDT while crewmen Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan slept before starting the busiest period of their eight-day space assignment. Ground controllers told them they could sleep until nearly noon if they wished.

Apollo 10 was to fire its control rockets at 4:34 p.m. to kick itself into an elliptical orbit around the moon, and fire them again four hours and 25 minutes later to go into a circular orbit 69 miles above the lunar surface.

A color television show of the moon's approach was scheduled at 1:09 p.m., and of the surface at 9:34 p.m. The final task of the busy day will be Cernan's climb through a connecting tunnel to the lunar landing vehicles to check its equipment prior to its all-important flight test.

Thursday, Cernan and Stafford will fly the landing craft to within 50,000 feet of the moon's crust. Their test of the lander and close inspection of a chosen landing site will determine whether the Apollo 11 crew will attempt a moon landing July 20.

The Apollo 11 team of Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldren went to the launch pad at Cape Kennedy Tuesday afternoon to inspect their spacecraft after it was rolled into position atop its Saturn 5 booster rocket.

"I feel great. We all feel great," mission commander Stafford reported to astronaut physician Dr. Charles E. Berry before going to bed Tuesday night.

Berry talked privately with the astronauts to question them about the nagging problem of hydrogen bubbles in the spacecraft drinking water. Berry reported afterward the spacemen had been taking pills to cut down abdominal gaseousness, and that he had urged them to maintain their water intake in spite of the gas to avoid potentially dangerous dehydration.

Tomorrow will be America's busiest and most dangerous day in space.

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young will awake at 9:34 a.m. EDT. Before they sleep again they plan to give the moon lander its second manned test, practice with communications between earth and two separate spacecraft, and fly Stafford and Cernan to within 50,000 feet of the moon's surface.

It is final dress rehearsal for the first landing attempt by Apollo 11 in July.

The long coast from earth ends in moon orbit late today.

But Apollo 10's reason for existing is Thursday.

The astronauts were taking all precautions possible to reduce the chance of trouble and several times during the trip reported they were studying their moon duties. "Skull practice," one called it.

The plan calls for Cernan, followed by Stafford, to enter the lunar lander at 11:14 a.m. EDT and, after checking out its equipment, to separate from the mothership at 2:59 p.m.

At 4:23 p.m. Stafford fires the moon lander's big descent engine for the first of two close passes over the target site of the Apollo 11 landing. Then, at 10:43 p.m., the two ships rendezvous and dock.

The astronauts say the rocket firing to begin the lunar lander's descent to the moon is a critical one. It occurs behind the moon.

If that firing is three seconds too long, changing the velocity of the lander by about 13 miles an hour more than intended, the lander would be on a crash course with the moon. This probably would result in an immediate abort. Less error might be correctable without such a drastic step, so long as the closest approach would not be nearer than 30,000 feet.

"Everyone on this side of the fence has to wait until you come around in acquisition to find out, you know, did you make it or didn't you make it type of thing," Cernan said prior to the flight.

The lunar lander, silvery with patches of black and gold insulation clinging to its sides, drops toward the moon after the first firing of its engine, along the exact path Apollo 11 will take on its way to the planned landing July 20.

"We proceed down to 50,000 feet and again we are going through the exact timelines and attitudes that the lunar landing mission will do," Stafford said. The high point of that orbit will come behind the moon and the spacecraft will then drop toward the moon for another low pass.

On that orbit, Stafford separates the top or ascent stage from the bottom half of the landing craft and fires the ascent engine to simulate takeoff from the surface of the moon.

Of Zoning and Hippies

Woodstock Plays to SRO Crowd

PERCHING—W. Bruce Willis, a Howard University student, climbed to the top of the transmitting tower of WOOK-TV in Washington in the nude. He spent several hours at the top and drew a large crowd before he allowed himself to be rescued by a helicopter. Top photo shows Willis perched on top of the tower. WOODSTOCK

Besieged by petitions signed by almost 700 local residents, criticized for its unofficial moratorium on zoning enforcement, accused of dragging its feet on creating needed recreational facilities, and charged with failing to adequately handle the problems that have come with growth and progress, the Woodstock Town Board stood embattled before a standing room only house in Town Hall Tuesday night.

But before the regular monthly session of the board was adjourned, the town fathers unanimously passed a strongly worded resolution to enforce Woodstock's zoning ordinance, and lent its approval to the formation of committees aimed at the proper planning of recreation.

A petition which had been circulated by the Ad Hoc Committee on Zoning Enforcement, and signed by some 600 Woodstockers, was presented to the board. The petition urged the board to "immediately enforce the Zoning Ordinance in its entirety," and to enforce it "firmly and equally."

It deplored the "attempt by a small special interest group" (some businessmen and merchants in the town oppose the sign section of the ordinance) to "force changes in the law for selfish interest." Suggesting that zoning in Woodstock is being "threatened and undermined," the petition called for "vigorous enforcement."

Hippies There; Say Little

Another petition, protesting the closing of town owned facilities at Big Deep and Mallory Grove, and signed by some 60 residents, was of special interest to a large segment of the overflow crowd—a group never represented before at a town board meeting. These were the hippies, who attended in large numbers — young kids with long hair, colorful clothes, beads and jingling bells, bringing with them their altruistic philosophy.

They were there to protest the recent closing by the town board of the two swimming and picnicking areas and the posting of "no trespassing" signs on the grounds that the live-and-let-love generation had abused them and made proper policing impossible. Not particularly vociferous during the meeting, their defense fell mainly to long-time Woodstock residents.

Responding to both the zoning enforcement petition and a strong personal request by Harold Martin that the board end his "frustration and inability to enforce the law" and terminate what is apparently a "moratorium on the sign ordinance," board members voted to give Martin powers he has not had in the past.

Justice of the Peace Edgar Leaycraft offered a resolution, seconded by Councilman Mervin Doremus, reaffirming a board resolution of Jan. 20 to "support the enforcement officer in his duty to vigorously enforce all violations of the ordinance." Martin now has the board's blessing "to proceed within 10 days to take civil action on violators at the board's expense."

Thirteen Violators

Enforcement officer Martin is expected to begin action against the following violators of the sign regulations within a week: Millstream Motel, Red Barn Antiques, Ken's Service Station, Sunoco Service Station, Rudi's Service Station, Mower's Food Market, Carey's Delicatessen, Gulf Service Station, Mobil Service Station, Village Motel and Apartments, Cousins Home Appliance, Woodstock

BULLETIN Prince on Way To Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Majestic Prince, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, left the race track at Pimlico, Maryland today and is headed by van for Belmont Park, site of the Belmont Stakes classic on June 7.

Word was received from the New York Racing Association that the big red colt was due to arrive at Belmont later.

There is still no definite word as to whether the colt would run in the gruelling 1½-mile Belmont, final leg of the Triple Crown for 3-year-olds. Majestic Prince had been previously declared out of the race by his owner and trainer.

KYSERIKE

Nearing the end of its year of austerity, the Rondout Valley School District Board of Education Tuesday approved a $4.1 million budget for 1969-70 with an anticipated tax rate of $26.08, up $1.22 over the one defeated last year.

The board's budget, with two items yet to be worked out, will be presented to the voters for approval on June 11 along with a proposition to resume cafeteria service that was eliminated under the austerity program.

A Sound Budget

Superintendent Dr. Ted T. Grenda told the board and residents present that the figure represented a "sound budget" and predicted that the cafeteria, which lost an estimated $15,000 in its last year of operation could, "with good management, break even." A $5,000 debt limit was placed on a proposition that would resume the program, beyond which the board said it would consider closing the cafeteria.

Amid reports that school budgets are being defeated at a record rate in New York and around the country, the RVC budget will go to the district's voters more than a month behind schedule. The board delayed the voting from early May due to continued bargaining with teachers and employees under the Taylor Law and in an effort to "give the voters a better budget."

The final figures on the budget were apparently held up due to contractual talks with the Rondout Valley Teachers' Association, but Dr. Grenda said at the meeting that "there is a point beyond which we will not go" and the budget figure was selected with "some measure of flexibility" to allow for negotiations.

The superintendent said the board of education is "trying to negotiate in good faith" with the teachers, but talks have slowed to such a point that the state Public Employment Relations Board recently appointed a Poughkeepsie lawyer to mediate the dispute between the teachers and the board.

The board members and Dr. Grenda left the meeting room to discuss, in private, items in the budget that are set aside for possible increases the school is willing to give teachers. Later the board without the superintendent met in a separate conclave, apparently on the same subject.

Dr. Grenda said a complete budget would be sent to each taxpayer in the form of a newsletter before the annual meeting of the district and the voting.

Out of a total $4,087,619 in the budget, $1.45-million is to be raised by local taxes.

Last year, the board proposed a budget of $3,853,025 with a tax rate of $24.86 and adopted a $3,801,381 budget after the proposed one was defeated. The adoption of the austerity measure that did not need voter approval, included a $36,700 transportation proposition and a $20,000 extracurricular activities item that were approved by voters. The final rate for 1968-69 was $23.86; $2.22 less than the presently proposed budget.

No Names Presented

In a related matter, the superintendent said no names have been presented to be placed on the ballot to vie for four seats on the board. He said "a number of petitions" are out, but declined to comment further.

The seats held by Horace Sarr, Gladys Carle, John L. Schoonmaker and Mrs. Gina Linehan are open and indications are that none of the four intend to run for reelection. May 28 is the last day for return of petitions with at least 25 eligible voters signing them.

Saugerties GOP Legislators:

2 Incumbents, 2 New Faces

SAUGERTIES Two Republican incumbent county legislators and two new candidates will seek the four GOP District I seats in the County Legislature next November. District I legislators represent Saugerties.

Clifford Snyder and C. Freeman Lasher have served the county board for the last two years and seek reelection. Charles Scala and Jerome Daley will attempt to unseat the two Democrat incumbents.

Snyder is chairman of the sheriff's committee and serves on the data processing and printing, finance, legislative and rules, operational efficiency and social services committees. Lasher is chairman of the errors in assessments committee and serves on the extension service committee, industrial development and publicity, public health and tax base committees.

Snyder was born in High Woods and is employed by IBM as manager in the Programming Systems Computer Center.

A veteran of World War II, he is a member of the Ulster County Republican Committee, treasurer of the Saugerties Republican Club and holds membership in a number of civic and fraternal organizations.

He is married to the former Florence Parr, has two children, Jeanne and Clifford and resides in Barclay Heights.

Lasher was born in Asbury, Town of Saugerties and resides there on the family farm. He operates Kelly's Paint and Gift Store in the Village of Saugerties, and is married to the former Marguerite Murray.

A trustee of the Saugerties Savings Bank he is a member and past master of Ulster Lodge 193 F&M and other Masonic organizations including Cyprus Temple Shrine, Albany.

Lasher is also one of a five-man board of the Ulster County Soil and Water Conservation Committee. This group is mapping the entire County of Ulster.

Scala, a life resident of Saugerties, is a candidate for a masters degree in business administration from Siena College.

A staff systems analyst with IBM, he was also a captain in the U.S. Army Reserve. Active in local politics, he served as a Republican committeeman from Windemere and serves in the same capacity now in District I, Saugerties.

Scala and his wife, Kay reside with their four children on Washington Avenue in the Village of Saugerties.

Daley is a native of West Camp and a veteran of World War II. A charter member and past commodore of the Saugerties Power Boat Association, he is treasurer of the Saugerties Investment Club and belongs to civic and fraternal organizations.

Daley served on the board of trustees of the village under Mayor William Zeigler and the Fallsburgh Bottling Company. He has held the position for 18 years. He and his wife, Marilyn have three children.

Theater Party for 'Seniors'

KINGSTON A gala theatre party, free of charge, for all senior citizens of the area will be held on Friday afternoon, May 23, at the Community Theatre according to an announcement by Alexander Yosman, coordinator of the senior citizens advisory council.

Yosman said that through the cooperation of the Walter Reade Theatres, the film "Mayerling" starring Omar Sharif, James Mason and Ava Gardner will be shown. The movie will start promptly at 2 p.m. Yosman urged all senior citizens to make every effort to attend this social event.

Gene Brock, amanager of the Walter Reade Theatre, in charge of making the arrangements for this event, stated that the Walter Reade group was very happy of the opportunity to recognize the senior citizens of the area. In addition to sponsoring the party at no cost to the senior citizen, Brock said that Golden Age Cards, which permits admission at reduced rates, for all senior citizens at the Community and Mayfair theatres are available.

The Senior Citizens Advisory Council consists of representatives from Ulster County Social Services, Social Security Administration, N. Y. State Employment Service, Kingston Housing Authority, Kingston Recreation Commission, Ulster County Health Department and Ulster County Bar Association and Salvation Army.

Any senior citizen requiring assistance of any sort may receive help without charge by calling 338-0933.

Spring Concert Plans Are Made In Red Hook

RED HOOK Children of St. Christopher's School in Red Hook have begun to formalize the program for their spring concert, to be held at the school at 8 p.m. May 28.

The program is under the direction of Frank Walsh.

The first portion of the program will feature each grade singing two songs that will be an expression of America. Through music the children will sing the rousing vitality of the American people.

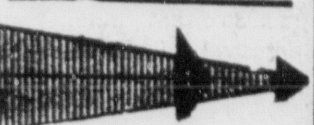

The second part of the program is billed as an "attempt to bridge the generation gap." Songs of composers familiar to their parents will be sung, such as: Rogers and Hammerstein's The Sound Of Music, State Fair, South Pacific, Oklahoma; Lerner and Lowe's My Fair Lady and Walt Disney productions The Jungle Book and Mary Poppins.

The sixth, seventh, and eighth grades will sing some of the themes and top Broadway show tunes of recent movies and plays.

Highland Board Establishes Registration for Voters

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

HIGHLAND
The Board of Education of the Highland Central School District has established a system of personal registration for future voting in the district.

Once registered, qualified voters will be eligible to cast ballots in all school district elections, bond issues, budgetary proposals, and other propositions.

The personal registration plan was initially called for by members of the Board when it was alleged that non-residents of the district had voted on a closely contested proposition.

According to the new registration rules, individuals who are U.S. citizens, at least 21 years of age, and residents of the district for no less than 30 days, may vote at any school meeting and election of school district officers.

In addition, prospective voters must possess one of the three following qualifications:

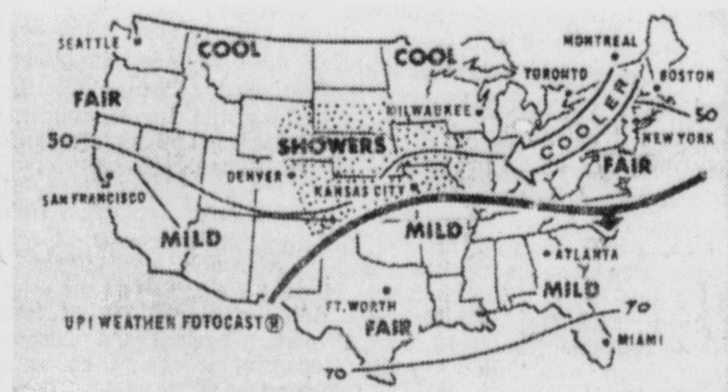

—must either own or be the spouse of an owner, lease, hire, or be in the possession under a contract of purchase, of real property, in the district, liable for taxation for school purposes.

—or must be the parent of a child of school age, who has attended the district school for a period of at least eight weeks during the year preceding the election.

—or must have a child of school age permanently residing with him, who attended the district school for the same required time during the year preceding such meeting.

Registration is being conducted at several locations in the school district between now through June 14. More specific information may be obtained by contacting the district office in Highland.

Bell, Rolison Receive Appointments GOP Divides the Patronage Pool

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —GOP leaders in the Senate and Assembly divided up one of the legislature's biggest patronage pools Tuesday, naming 22 Republican lawmakers who will share the $2 million pie as Joint Legislative Committee chairmen.

The committees, which will be headed by 12 assemblymen and 10 senators, carry appropriations ranging from $50,000 to $175,000 which is used to pay staff salaries, expenses, annual reports and supplies.

Ulster County Legislators Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and Sen. Jay P. Rolison have been appointed to a number of those committees.

Sen. Rolison who represents both Ulster and Dutchess Counties will serve on the Corporations Committee, the Interstate Cooperation Committee and the Environmental Management and Natural Resources Committee.

Rolison said he is particularly pleased with the latter assignment because of his long-sustained interest in conservation.

While committee appointments in the assembly have been made, they have not been announced publicly by Speaker Perry B. Duryea.

Assemblyman Bell said today he expects a release of the assignments will be made on Thursday.

Republicans will run all the joint legislative committees this year for the first time since 1964 after they recaptured the Assembly from the Democrats in last November's election.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges reappointed 10 of his members to committee chairmanships they currently hold. They will share $925,000.

Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea appointed himself chairman of the JLC on Legislative Fiscal Analysis and Review, a post traditionally held by the speaker. The committee carries an appropriation of $75,000.

The Assembly appointments made by Duryea carry appropriations totaling $1,085,000.

The total JLC budget of $2.01 million is actually $585,000 less than last year. The money was saved by cutting the number of committees from 27 down to 22 this year.

Two senators who had headed JLC's in the past year voluntarily gave them up. Sen. Warren M. Anderson of Binghamton relinquished the chairmanship of the committee on the corporation law, which will now be headed by an assemblyman.

Sen. William E. Adams of Kenmore, who was chairman of the now-defunct social services committee, will become chairman of a special commission on the same subject created by the lawmakers this year.

The commission will have an appropriation of $200,000 for the coming year, whereas the old JLC had an appropriation of $150,000.

Assemblyman Francis Boland of Binghamton will head the joint legislative committee on reapportionment which will have the task of drawing up new boundary lines for the state's 41 congressional districts.

The committee, which must complete its work in time for a special session of the legislature this fall, will have an appropriation of $150,000.

Assemblymen will also head the three new JLC's created this year. They are Milton Jonas of Hempstead, higher education ($125,000 appropriation); Chester Hardt of Buffalo, protection of children and youth and drug abuse ($100,000); and Daniel Becker of Newburgh, study real property tax exemptions ($75,000).

Other GOP assemblymen named were:

Joseph J. Kunzeman of Queens, consumer protection ($75,000); Gordon W. Burrows of Yonkers, corporation law ($60,000); Peter Biondo of Ossining, election law ($50,000); Glenn H. Rockaway, health ($75,000).

Harris of Canada Lake, environmental management and natural resources ($125,000); Donald C. Shoemaker of Webster, industrial and labor conditions ($100,000); James T. McFarland of Kenmore, commerce, economic development, tourism and motor boats ($75,000); and George Farrell of Mineola, towns and villages ($75,000).

The 10 senators reappointed committee chairmen were:

William T. Conklin of Brooklyn, banking ($50,000); John H. Hughes, Syracuse, crime ($125,000); D. Clinton Dominick, Newburgh, education ($175,000); H. Douglas Barclay, Pulaski, housing and urban development ($75,000); Bernard G. Gordon, Peekskill, insurance ($75,000).

Also John H. Marchi, Staten Island, interstate cooperation ($50,000); Edward J. Speno, East Meadow, mass transportation ($125,000); Dalwin J. Niles, Johnstown, physical and mental handicap ($75,000); Thomas La-verne, Rochester, metropolitan area studies ($100,000); and Norman F. Lent, East

The Bench Rocks Again -- New Douglas Fee Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has been paid $500 a day fee by a California study center which gets part of its money from the controversial foundation he heads.

The payments to Douglas by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, Santa Barbara, Calif., totaled about $4,000 for 1968 and this year, a center official said.

Douglas has come under fire already for his outside salary as president and only paid official of The Albert Parvin Foundation, which has had stock ties with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

Call for Probe

Congressmen have called for an investigation of Douglas' income in the wake of Justice Abe Fortas' resignation from the Supreme Court in the dispute over a $20,000 check from the family foundation of jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson.

The American Bar Association's Ethics Committee said Tuesday Fortas had violated its canons of ethics. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who requested the opinion, told the Senate he is also seeking an ABA committee ruling on Douglas' role in the Parvin Foundation.

Douglas is chairman of the board of directors of the Santa Barbara center as well as Parvin Foundation head.

The center has been the second highest recipient of payments from the Parvin Foundation in recent years. However, the contributions represent only a small portion of the center's financing.

The center encourages study of civil liberties and seminars on international politics.

Harry S. Ashmore, executive vice president of the center, said Douglas received $1,000 for two days in attendance at a seminar, $100 for an article and $132 in travel expenses last year.

Ashmore said Douglas got $865 in travel expenses for another seminar earlier this year. He said the justice attended for four days and added, "I presume he was compensated again at the rate of $500 a day."

Others at Seminar

Also taking part in the Japanese-American political studies seminar at Santa Barbara in January were Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.; John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.; and Alan Cranston, D-Calif.; Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif.; former U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, and former Asian diplomat Edwin O. Reischauer.

Ashmore said he thought the others, who attended from one to three days, also received $500 daily.

"That's the usual rate," he said. "We bring them here and work them all day. We work their tails off."

Ashmore said the justice does not receive any salary as chairman of the board for the center, a position that Douglas has held for several years.

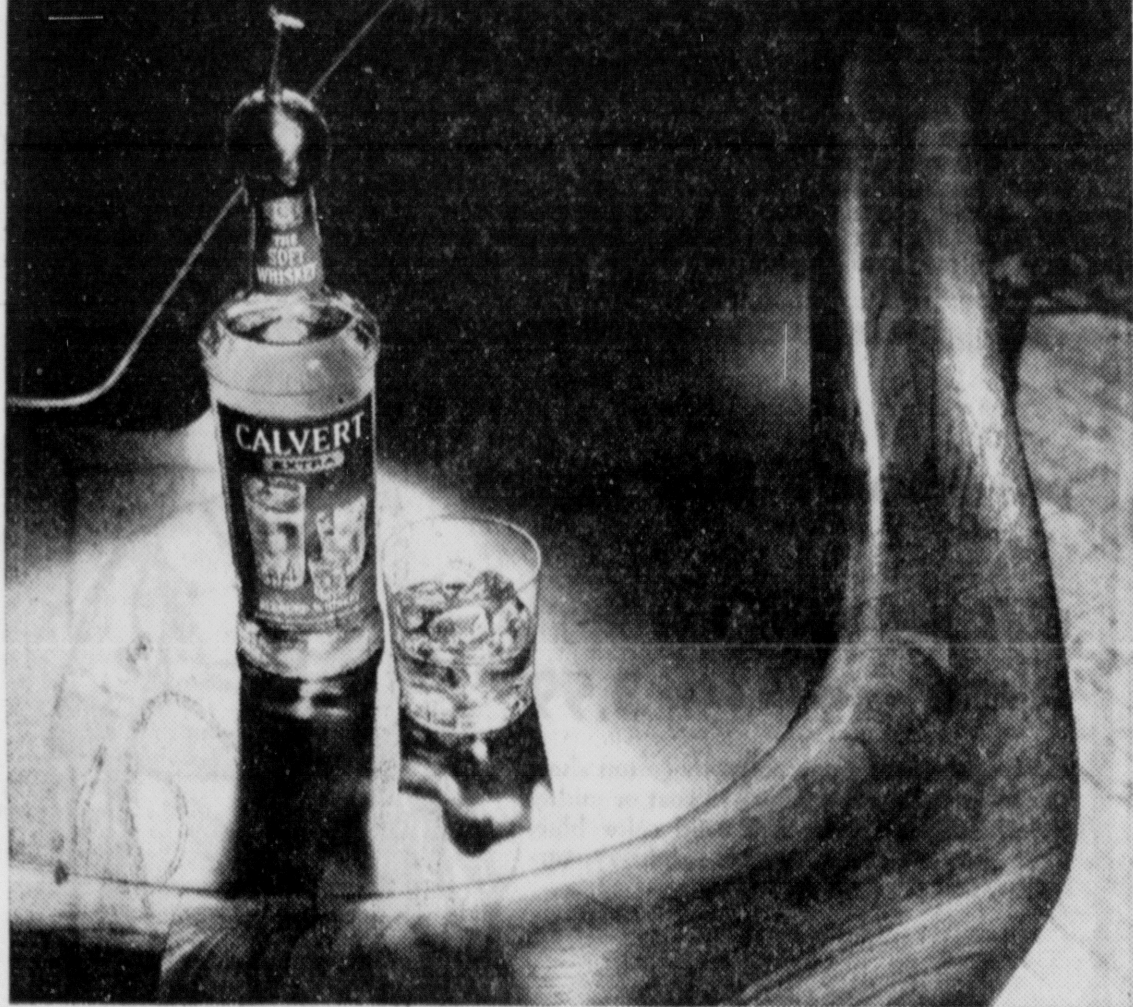

The Santa Barbara payments have been small compared with the $12,000-plus salary paid to Douglas by the Parvin Foundation.

Tax records show the Parvin Foundation gave the center $70,000 in the period from 1965 to 1967. Last year's returns have not been made public yet.

Princeton University received twice that amount at nearly $142,000 over the three years for foreign fellowships. UCLA got about $40,000.

The two universities and the center were the only recipients of Parvin Foundation grants in the three years.

Ted's Attack Draws Barbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the Senate's No. 1 Democrat, has come under fire from Republican doves for going beyond attacks on broad Vietnam policy and criticizing battle tactics.

A speech Tuesday by Kennedy, considered a front-runner for his party's 1972 presidential nomination, was supported by some Democratic critics of the war, but drew barbs from Senate Republicans generally opposed to the nation's Vietnam stance.

Kennedy triggered the GOP backlash when he said the 10-day siege of Hamburger Hill, which killed 43 Americans and 290 wounded, is an example of sacrifice for a false sense of military pride.

"I feel it is both senseless and irresponsible to continue to send our young men to their deaths to capture hills and positions that have no relation to ending this conflict," Kennedy said, turning from more general comment on President Nixon's war policies.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., reacted by saying:

"I fault the military policy that put them there. I'm not an armchair general who can fault the military tactics of the moment."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., who recently called for a start on unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops, said of Kennedy's speech: "It looks like a little opportunism and I suppose we'll get more of that."

Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1968 and a potential rival to Kennedy for the 1972 nomination, said in Detroit he is generally sympathetic to the idea Kennedy expressed in the Senate.

One Democratic war critic, Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, said, "I confine my own position to policy questions but I wouldn't want to pass judgment on what Kennedy said until I had an opportunity to study it."

Another Democrat, Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, who ran for the Senate on a peace platform and nominated war critic Sen. Eugene McCarthy for president, defended Kennedy.

Rocky Not Welcome: Lima Edict

Peru-U.S. Relations Near Breaking Point

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Relations between Peru and the United States neared collapse today as the Peruvians announced that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would not be welcome in the country and that U. S. military missions should get out.

The government's action late Tuesday followed Washington's suspension of the sale of arms and munitions to Peru's military government in retaliation for the seizure of American fishing boats off Peru.

President Juan Velasco's regime issued a communique accusing the United States of violating its 1952 military aid pact with Peru and of "placing in danger Pan-American friendship, one of whose objectives is continental security."

Rockefeller, who toured Central America last week, was scheduled to visit Peru May 30-31 on the second leg of his Latin American survey for President Nixon. The Lima government said his visit would be "inopportune," and there was speculation that this would encourage anti-American demonstrations in other countries the New York governor is to visit.

There was no immediate word from Washington on how soon the United States would pull out the 50 officers and enlisted men assigned to the military mission in Peru and their 129 dependents. It was expected that the military families would be flown out soon, probably to Panama as the first stop on their way home.

Also due to leave shortly is U.S. Ambassador John Wesley Jones, who submitted his resignation when President Johnson left office in January. Nixon accepted the resignation Thursday.

It is felt that in view of the serious split between the two governments, Nixon is unlikely to name a new ambassador for the present.

Observers here speculated that Peru would summon home its ambassador to the United States, Fernando Berckemeyer. Such a move would leave relations between the traditionally friendly nations at their lowest level in history.

The strain in U.S.-Peruvian relations began last October, after Velasco seized power in a military coup. The junta expropriated the Talara refinery of the International Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, and in February announced that IPC owed Peru $690.5 million for oil it had pumped from Peruvian soil since 1924. Peru's state-owned oil company then took over operation of IPC.

The Hickenlooper Amendment to U.S. foreign aid legislation says that aid to any country which expropriates American property must be cut off after six months if the government has not arranged to pay compensation. That deadline passed April 9 but was extended by Washington because IPC has filed an administrative appeal against Lima's debt claim. The appeal must be decided by Aug. 6.

In Berkeley It's a Casser

By United Press International

A National Guard helicopter spewed tear gas on student demonstrators and onlookers at the University of California's Berkeley campus Tuesday. Militants tried to break down the door of the president's office at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell told a House subcommittee no new legislation to combat campus violence should be passed because it would hurt "the sheep who follow" militants.

The airborne teargas assault at Berkeley took place about an hour after 3,000 persons held an illegal rally to protest the death of a man wounded in student-police battles Thursday. Both onlookers and the remnants of the protest group were engulfed in the fumes.

The gas seeped into the 27,000-student school's Union Building and hospital, forcing evacuation of some patients.

Case Western students claimed victory when university officials agreed to discuss release of a report on racial violence in Cleveland.

Earlier Tuesday, 20 students crowded into the 9,000-student school's administration building and tried to break down the door of the president's office. They were repelled by campus police and Vice Provost Ernie Green, a Cleveland Browns football player.

The students said the report they want released contains information vital to the defense of black militant Fred "Ahmed" Evans, sentenced to death for the sniping deaths of four persons in last summer's violence.

Ex-Peru Head in New Paltz Address

Cooperation Key to Solving Problems of Continents

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

NEW PALTZ — Fernando Belaunde-Terry, former president of Peru, outlined an ambitious plan for multi-national cooperation in the South American continent to an attentive student audience at the State University College of New York at New Paltz, Tuesday.

Earlier in the day Belaunde-Terry speaking in Albany said anti-American demonstrations against Gov. Rockefeller in Latin America did not reflect the views of the majority of South Americans.

The former Peruvian president, addressing graduate students at the State University at Albany defended the present Peruvian government's action in seizing U.S.-owned fishing boats and oil companies. He said the 200-mile extension of Peru's territorial water limits was imposed to preserve the resources of the sea "not only for Peru, but for all humanity," a UPI dispatch said.

The former Peruvian president, who was deposed by a military junta 10 months before the completion of his six-year term, was appearing at the college as a guest of the newly forming Latin American Studies Department at New Paltz.

Belaunde-Terry was introduced by Arnold Payne assistant professor of political science, as "one of the few Latin American leaders who has governed by the ideals of western Democracy and applied his energies to economic development and social justice."

Geo-Economic Approach

Belaunde-Terry an architect before entering Peruvian politics, told the gathering of about 150 people in the main auditorium, that he favored a "geo-economic approach" to solving the continents problems and said that "this can only be done if the leaders of the various republics embrace the concept of cooperation."

Using a portable blackboard with a chalk-drawn map of the South American continent, the scholar-statesman explained that since almost all of South America's industry was located along the coast line the under-populated heartland of the continent, rich in unexploited raw materials, would be an ideal area for economic development.

Belaunde-Terry said that through mutual cooperation and with the assistance of the United States an infrastructure of transportation and communication connections could be engineered.

Optimistic About Future

He said that he was optimistic about the future of hemispheric relations because "there is a great awareness among American students."

Belaunde-Terry, who is currently a professor of architecture at Harvard University also spoke of his efforts to democratize Peruvian society during his five-year presidency.

He noted that there were actually two distinct cultures in Peru — a modern industrial culture and a primitive indian culture.

"On the one hand we have a modern government, with modern institutions to confront universal problems," he said, "and on the other hand we have the inspiration offered through the institutions of the primitive ancient Incan society, "while offering them technological and professional assistance."

attempted to bring about a "marriage of the two cultures" letting the people continue the "philanthropy of the poor," which has its origin in the the institutions of the primitive ancient Incan society, "while offering them technological and professional assistance."

Paltz College Announces the Annual Alumni Awards

NEW PALTZ

Outstanding Alumni Awards for 1969 have been announced by the Alumni Association of State University College, New Paltz, and will go to Mrs. Vera R. Irwin, '33, professor of drama at the college, and Charles E. Kanter, '67, director of education for the Manchester, N. H., Concentrated Employment Program.

The awards will be presented by President John J. Neumaier at the Alumni Association luncheon June 7.

Mrs. Irwin's selection was based on her efforts on behalf of the Rebecca McKenna Theater and the acquisition of the Rebecca McKenna Theatrical Design Collection. Mrs. Irwin initiated the McKenna fund to purchase the works in the collection, and as chairman of the 1968 fund, she was instrumental in obtaining more than $2,000 to begin the work. The sum has been used to purchase a dozen contemporary designs for theatre.

The Alumni Association said there is no similar collection elsewhere available to theatre scholars and artists.

The Dr. Roland G. Will Award will go to Kanter who has been recognized for his part in Manchester's war on poverty and the city's efforts to bring the unemployed and under-employed into the mainstream of American life. Dr. Will retired four years ago after 30 years of service at New Paltz, and at that time asked that an alumni committee choose a New Paltz graduate for the award on the basis of outstanding contribution and distinguished service rendered in racial and cultural relations.

Some Changes Show Up for November Lineup

KINGSTON — Several changes in the lineup of city and county candidates for next November's election showed up Tuesday at the Ulster County Board of Elections, the last day for declarations.

A petition was filed for a write-in vote (ballots are printed with no name) for a Democratic candidate for the 11th District which is comprised of Denning, Hardenburgh, Olive, Rochester and Shandaken.

The move was made necessary when it was discovered that the former candidate, Robert E. Smith has not secured enough signatures on his petition, making it null and void.

District 8, Town of New Paltz and Gardiner is without a Conservative candidate due to the fact that the previously announced nominee, James Lawlor was found not to be qualified. His candidacy was dismissed on the basis of residence requirements. Lawlor lives in the Town of Plattekill and would have to live in New Paltz or Gardiner to qualify.

City Legislator candidate William Merrill declined his nomination and the Republican committee on vacancies placed Thomas F. Rieley in nomination. Rieley also has Conservative endorsement for the post. The Board of Elections also received notification that Raymond Abel Garraghan, who is running as a Democrat for city representative on the County Legislature wishes his name to be entered on the ballot using his middle name in full rather than as an initial.

Great Pool of Volunteers

President Nixon's decision to provide Federal leadership to tap volunteer resources to meet some of the nation's problems is soundly based. There are volunteers aplenty in all ages and classes to answer any challenge.

A study by the U. S. Department of Labor spells out the sources and scope of the people ready to give of their time and efforts. It has just been published by the department under the title "American Volunteer."

Volunteering is big business, the survey reports. At least one of every six persons 14 and over contributed his labor to some health, welfare or education service for the general good during the survey period in 1965.

The volunteers totalled nearly 22 million persons. Half worked fewer than five times during the year, spending less than a total of 25 hours at their tasks. But 900,000 worked full-time for nothing for a full week or more.

The survey revealed a trend among young people, old people, minority groups and other low-income people volunteering. Most of the men who volunteer are businessmen and other workers with full-time jobs.

No dollar and cents value was put on this volunteer labor, but an educated guess put it at not less than $1 billion. With encouragement and direction and attractive goals, the number of participants and the value of their efforts could multiply several times.

That is just what President Nixon intends to do. He has named George W. Romney, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, to head a task force that will organize volunteers for many tasks that the nation needs for the general welfare.

The first thing that occurs to a jaundiced cynic is that Romney has drawn an assignment to build a political machine of volunteers. That could happen. But the fact that Romney is a manufacturer who fell by the wayside on his first national political attempt should persuade all that he would not have been chosen if that was Nixon's purpose.

New types of volunteers to the traditional ranks mostly filled by the middle class, middle-aged housewife, has opened a big opportunity for doing for the country, which the President is wise to grasp. If there is a political spin-off, who is to blame the Administration for looking ahead?

Folks Are Too Mad

The mood of Congress over college and university rebels is so fierce that members who strongly advocate aid to higher education are afraid there is no stopping those who want to reduce it or even eliminate it altogether. "Folks are too mad" to stand for money to be spent on such ingrates, it is felt, and of course any cuts would hurt the innocent along with the guilty.

The Federal Government now pays a quarter of American higher education. There are the National Defense Student Loans on which a half million students from lower and middle class families depend. The College Work-Study programs help needy students work their way through college. The Educational Opportunity Grants help pay basic college costs for the very poor. Altogether, the Federal Government gives $4.4 billion a year to colleges and universities for non-defense purposes.

Congress is getting more and more determined to cut off funds to universities tolerating student disorders or rejecting ROTC, which is a cornerstone of the armed services. Just when higher education was being made available to almost anyone intellectually able to use it, the rebels are taking it away. Almost it seems that their aim is to retard American higher education, that could supply this country with future leaders, rather than to obtain the specious demands that are being made.

Seminaries are the last place one would expect to look for rebellion. Yet 75 of the 650 students at Union Theological Seminary in New York occupied the administration building in a show of support for the 14 Negroes among them. There is no telling where rebellion will strike next.

David Lawrence Says

Supreme Court Needs Men Of Ability and Integrity

WASHINGTON — With two vacancies on the Supreme Court to be filled and the likelihood of retirement by some of the other justices, it is being said that President Nixon has an opportunity to "remake" the high court. But experience has proven that, while the nine men who sit on the Supreme Court may have held "conservative" or "liberal" or "moderate" views on public affairs before they were appointed, they often deliver opinions that do not bear out such classifications as specific cases have come before them.

Naturally the President is expected to seek men of ability in the judicial field, but, no matter whom he appoints, some members of Congress will believe that he has selected persons of a particular ideology. Again and again, however, justices have not, in their rulings, followed the course predicted at the time they came to the high court. Justice Hugo Black, for instance, was supposed to be an ultra-conservative from the South, but in the many years he has served on the bench he has not attached himself to any one philosophy. The same can be said of other justices — though it is true that there are some who have consistently adhered to the idea that the Supreme Court has the power to rewrite the Constitution.

The biggest controversy of the last several decades about the Supreme Court arose over criticism of the justices for having "stretched" the Constitution. It is contended, in defense of their decisions, that they have dealt realistically with the problems of the current era. The argument is made that the founding fathers, in writing the Constitution, could not have foreseen the contingencies that have since arisen, and that this permits unprecedented interpretations.

The belief has become widespread, however, that the court has overstepped its bounds, particularly in the "desegregation" ruling in 1954 and the subsequent extension of the "equal protection of the laws" clause in the Fourteenth Amendment to cases not hitherto considered to come under that provision. Public clamor has risen over decisions which meant the reversal of long-established precedents, the freeing of convicted criminals on liberalization of definitions of "obscenity," and especially the barring of prayer in the schools.

Doubtless the disputes over Supreme Court decisions will continue in the future, though remedies are available for those who say the court has abused its power. Congress can pass a law limiting the appellate jurisdiction of the court. Or a constitutional amendment can be adopted nullifying or modifying any decision of the Supreme Court of the United States.

What President Nixon should do, of course, is to pick honest men — individuals of integrity and with a high sense of duty. Justices may be mistaken at times, but if they are thoroughly grounded in the laws of the land and are governed by conscience, the country can expect fair-minded decisions.

Preferably, Mr. Nixon might appoint individuals who have actually served on the bench — either in United States district or circuit courts of appeal or in the state Supreme Courts.

It would be most unfortunate if political or personal considerations in any way entered into the selections of the new justices. There have been many instances in the past when presidents have nominated close friends or political associates.

Apparently the appointments to be made by President Nixon will be scrutinized more carefully in the Senate than has been the case heretofore. While some Senators have already indicated that they are going to interrogate future nominees particularly to make sure there is no "conflict of interest," the truth is that this rarely has proved to be a factor of any consequence in the work of the court.

More and more in recent years justices have been taking large fees for lectures and outside services. Congress has failed to define "good behavior" — the term used in the Constitution as a requirement for the holding of judicial office. With all the background of the Fortas case, it is likely that a justice will cut himself off from fees or income which might be regarded as inconsistent with his judicial duties as prescribed in the canons of judicial ethics of the American Bar Association.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Behind most large hospitals there is a small building, ashamed of its isolation. The little one seems relieved when the late sun throws the dark shadow of the hospital across its walls. It is a combination pathological laboratory and morgue. Often, the men and women who work inside can tell you whether you are going to live.

Milton Halpern of New York is regarded as the best. A step behind him is Dr. Jack Mickleley of Hollywood Hospital. Mickleley looks and talks like Zero Mostel. He favors a broken hip with a cane that looks as though it were stolen from a hockey player. He has a desk, an assortment of microscopes, a few dedicated assistants, a greentiled room for autopsies, and a chilled butcher box for the losers.

Mickleley works in a pair of bifocals and striped shorts. He has brown eyes that shine with commiseration and humor, emotions seldom seen in one pair of eyes. He held in his hands a gray substance. It looked like a rubber bathtub washer that had been chewed by the family dog.

"This is an infant's heart," he said. "She died at the age of six weeks. God gave her an aorta which was much too small for the job, and four pumping chambers which were of different sizes. She didn't stand a chance, but I'm sure she's making it big somewhere else."

We spoke of many things and he utters good jokes to keep sorrow outside the building. "Did you know," he said, "that 65 per cent of all women with breast cancer are cured, but only five per cent of fat women ever lose weight?"

Years ago a black woman was mopping the autopsy room and she paused to ask the doctor the name of the organ he was holding in his hand. Dr. Mickleley explained to the scrub woman that it was a pancreas. In an old southern Negro tone she asked what it is for. He asked her if she was interested in such ghoulish matters as autopsies. She said she was, but she didn't have an elementary school education. "Drop the mop," he said, "and come over here."

Her name is Thelise Johnson and Dr. Mickleley spent thousands of hours teaching anatomy to her. Today, Mrs. Johnson is his assistant. She knows 6,000 Latin terms for parts of the body and their pathology, but she doesn't know that many words in English. Mickleley would rather part with his microscopes than with Mrs. Johnson.

He came out of the University of Maryland in 1932 and went on to Harvard to study forensic medicine. Often, a touch of laughter comes to his grim business. He helped examine a lady who had been raped by ten men. "I could tolerate the rape," she said. "But I can't forgive the names they called me afterward."

The doctor put hi-fi music in the mortuary because he doesn't want the place to appear dismal. He changed some of the ceiling lights from fluorescent — which makes skin look green — to pink. "This way," he says apologetically, "even a dead person looks human." Behind his desk is a silly sign that says: "Payment is expected at the time the professional service is rendered — Thank you."

Death must come to everyone — even Mickleley — but he tries to keep it from being deadly to the living. At an autopsy, organs are removed, examined for pathological aspects, washed, weighed and placed in an incinerator.

He has two perfect skeletons, one male, one female, made of plastic. Every bone is in place. "They are modeled after normal people," he said, "so I named him Norman and her Norma."

The slight chill he feels is when a biopsy is sent to him. It is a piece of suspected tissue and he stains it and places it with a tag of identification, between glass slides. "Look in this microscope," he said. I looked. "The pink cells are normal. You see a dozen blue ones near the top? That's cancer. That's a malignancy."

We studied some cancerous lungs. "Did you ever smoke, doctor?" I said. He turned on that impish grin. "In moderation only," he said. "I smoked four packages of cigarettes a day and three cigars." Then he got emphatic. "As you sit in the morgue, he is the only person you can hear breathing."

N.Y. Tabloid Urges Young Readers to Join Nazi Group

WASHINGTON — The tabloid New York Daily News, the nation's most widely circulated newspaper, has called upon young people to join the National Youth Alliance, which is an American reincarnation of the Hitler youth movement.

In an editorial attack upon the Students for a Democratic Society, the Daily News declared: "To our younger customers, if you are looking for a patriotic organization which is the exact opposite of the down-with-everything SDS, get in touch with National Youth Alliance, 813 Dupont Circle Building, Washington, D.C. 20036, telephone 202 833-8450."

We have written several columns exposing the communist-anarchist ideology behind the SDS. We have also written several columns exposing how the Nazis have taken over the NYA, lock, stock and bank account. Both groups promote violence and seek the overthrow of the U.S. government.

The NYA is the former Youth for Wallace organization, which changed its name after the election. The original leaders opposed the Nazi takeover but were driven out by the Nazis, who seized the membership list, contributors' list and bank assets.

In a sworn affidavit, John A. Cord, the former NYA chairman, has described how the Nazis covertly the NYA into a Nazi front. Here is his account, for example, of a typical meeting:

"The meeting opened with the majority of the men standing in a group with uplifted arms singing the 'Horst Wessel Lied,' the anthem of Nazi Germany. A number of speakers were introduced who talked for length on such topics as 'Plato the Fascist,' 'Negritude and Judeaized America,' and a review of recent books purported to rehabilitate Hitler."

Liquidation of Jews
"Special emphasis was given to a soon-to-be-published book, 'Myth of the Six Million,' (Louis T.) Byers said that the book was badly needed by those seeking to revive the Nazi movement, but was likely to disappoint the membership as it proved beyond any doubt that the SS had done away with considerably less than six million Jews, that in actual fact the book documented that only a few hundred thousand of the 'Sheenies' had been liquidated. Byers expressed the belief that next time the final solution to the Jewish problem will be more efficiently executed."

Dennis McMahon, a former NYA vice chairman, tells in his affidavit of being invited to Byers's home.

"I saw a case," McMahon swears, "in which I was told was $300 worth of ammunition, a World War I shotgun allegedly banned by the Geneva convention, and numerous other pieces of weaponry, including German lugers."

Byers also invited McMahon to a cocktail party in Pittsburgh. Declares McMahon's affidavit: "I was shocked to see people wearing Nazi Jewels, cuff links, lapel pins and the like. A number of people were singing along with a record of Nazi war songs which was blasting from the house's hi-fi system."

Byers is national organizer for the NYA, which the New York Daily News wants young Americans to join.

Note: We assumed that the Daily News must have missed our columns about the Nazi takeover of the NYA, so we located the editorial writer to offer him the evidence. He turned out to be Reuben Maury, who gruffly challenged us to print the story. "Go ahead and print the story and be sure to use my name," he said, "if you've got the guts."

Negro 'Apartheid' Is Seeping Into North Carolina Colony

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

RALEIGH, N.C. (NEA) — Past the hotel coffee shop window strolled a loosely strung-out group of Negroes — young children, teen-agers and young adults, they sang and chanted as they went. It was not their first night on the streets of this capital city.

Next day, in a gesture they knew would quickly lead to arrests, they pitched a tent on the grounds of Gov. Robert Scott's mansion. The tent was removed and the trespassers were arrested.

Though Raleigh has other black demonstrators these days and the city has seen a recent rash of fire-bombings, the strolling group of assorted age is unique. They came from the remote coastal county of Hyde, one of the poorest and most thinly populated in North Carolina.

Their faded county seat of Swanquarter, where they have also demonstrated, is a small hamlet on an inlet lead'g into Pamlico Sound, almost directly west of Cape Hatteras.

Though led by Golden Frinks of the usually moderate Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Swanquarter group is, in fact, black separatist today.

These rural blacks have two principal demands. They want their all-black school (closing under a desegregation order) kept open. And they want 40 or more acres of the Swanquarter federal wild life refuge set aside for them as a separatist haven.

These separatists obviously have virtually nothing in common with the furious black militants who talk this language in the cities. But their attitude toward the all-black school is symptomatic of a startling turn-around that has occurred in some parts of the South since the first days of school desegregation.

In state after state, the desegregation process has reached the stage where further substantial integration can come only if whites begin going to presently all-black schools — or these schools are closed and the young blacks are sent to once all-white schools already overcrowded in many instances.

black schools have been closed so far in the South, and more are likely to close September. In some towns visited by this reporter, brand new schools are planned to take care of the pupil overflow.

Southern whites flatly refuse to attend all-black schools, though more and more they accept joint attendance with Negroes in white schools. The whites see an unacceptable brand on black schools. Some say privately, too, that their facilities are not good enough.

Lately, however, blacks here and there have been battling to keep their schools open. Swanquarter is merely the dramatic symbol of this little-reported trend.

A veteran North Carolina observer viewing a demonstration on the Swanquarter courthouse steps spotted a plump, 50ish Negro woman singing at the top of her lungs. He asked her why and she said:

"My kids picked black-berries which we made into jam, and sold to buy curtains vacancies. He also expects to have other vacancies shortly, perhaps as many as any President has ever had in the short time since the days of Franklin Roosevelt. The roll call includes:

William P. Rogers, now Secretary of State and formerly Attorney General, a man with long legal experience, highly qualified to be Chief Justice.

Justice Potter Stewart, a moderate Republican who could be elevated to the chief justiceship. Potter is the author of one of the so-called "obscenity" decisions which has incurred the wrath of Congressmen of late. However, his opinions have suddenly swung toward the conservative.

Charles Rhyne, a close friend and classmate of Nixon at the Duke University law school. Rhyne has been head of the "World Peace Through Law" organization and takes time off at every election to campaign for Nixon.

Justice Warren Burger, a conservative Republican now on the U.S. Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia. Social Washington began buzzing about him as possible Chief Justice when he was singled out, along with ex-Gov. Tom Dewey and ex-Attorney General Herbert Brownell, as the only outside lawyers to be invited to the White House dinner in honor of Earl Warren. Dewey and Brownell have been generally ruled out because of age.

To replace Fortas, President Nixon will probably pick a Jew in keeping with a court tradition. Among the prominent Jewish attorneys available are:

Bernard Segal of Philadelphia, president-elect of the American Bar Association, a moderate Republican; Justice Henry Friendly, now with the Second Circuit Court of Appeals and former attorney for Pan American Airways; and Prof. Paul Freund of Harvard Law School, a follower of Felix Frankfurter, who is being pushed by Harvard Law School leaders. There is also the remote possibility that Nixon might pick former Justice Arthur Goldberg.

Finally, there is U.S. District Judge Donald Russell in South Carolina, a moderate Dixiecrat who would have the approval of Sen. Strom Thurmond, also of South Carolina, but at the same time has not been a segregationist.

for the school here. When you put your blood and sweat into something like this, you hate to see it go.

"The kids are gone now. But every time I pass by the school, I see the wings out there, and I think of them out there, swingin' sweet as angels."

By this strange route, black separatism has come to Swanquarter and Hyde county. The SCLC struggle to get 4 acres committed from the wild life refuge sounds more like a temporary withdrawal than a militant forward thrust. Golden Frinks told an observer:

"We got to go back in and develop our pride, and then come back out when we're ready."

There is no indication today that this curious bid for the white-sponsored apartheid of South Africa, will get far. Yet this stirring in a quiet North Carolina backwater is a poignant reminder of the stress and strain America's blacks are undergoing as they confront massive social change.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Wouldn't it be nice if 'panty raids' came back?"

Wilson Is Symbol Of Reeling Socialism

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst
NEW YORK (NEA)

The plight of Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson is another indication of the decline in the political fortunes of the Socialist parties in most nations of West Europe and Asia.

Like the totalitarian "socialists" who rule in the Communist countries, the democratic socialists are discovering that even their brand of moderate Marxism cannot solve the problems or cure the ills that plague humanity in the nuclear age.

The bored offspring of the affluent middle class who seek the romance of revolution among the New Leftists and the Students for a Democratic Society regard the democratic socialists' addiction to freedom as a relic of the past. The Communists have long denounced them as "tools of capitalism."

Even London's liberal weekly, The Observer, is now calling for Wilson's resignation as prime minister and leader of the Labor party.

Yet only five years ago Wilson was hailed as a brilliant "young" leftist leader. He was going to nationalize Britain's banks and basic industries. He hoped to create a welfare state which, unlike the Communist version of socialism, would be based on democratic freedom and human decency.

Now he is denounced by the younger members of his own Labor Party as a middle-aged failure who betrayed Marxist ideals.

Wilson's tragedy is, in a sense, also the tragedy of former President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Humphrey. Like many politicians before him who promised the liberal millennium, he was confronted as prime minister with the complex realities of power in a free society.

The same realities that prompt the conservative President Nixon to veer to the liberal side in foreign policy and domestic affairs forced Wilson to discard many of his socialist illusions.

As an ambitious leftist politician reaching out for power, he could castigate U.S. foreign policy with impunity. But as prime minister he soon found that he had to rely on American economic and diplomatic support.

This forced Wilson to back the United States on the war in Vietnam. It was at all times a lukewarm support but it aroused the hostility of Labor's extreme leftists.

He also lost the backing of the labor unions when, in an effort to restore Britain's chaotic economy, he decided to introduce a bill in Parliament to curb wildcat strikes.

This time even moderate labor politicians were furious since the majority of them face defeat in the elections without trade union support.

Then, to add insult to injury, Wilson's government decided to raise the price of eyeglasses and false teeth under the National Health Service. The young Labor members of Parliament, the backbenchers, were quick to denounce this as treason to socialism. They have long regarded cheap eyeglasses and false teeth as one of the most vital achievements of the welfare state.

These, of course, are only some of the major reasons for Wilson's mounting difficulties. However, he is a skilled politician who has already weathered many storms. He can cling to power until the election in 1971. He may yet outlive his detractors in and out of the Labor party.

But his plight is symbolic of the troubles facing the anti-

Communist socialists in France, Italy, West Germany, Japan and elsewhere in the free world. They, too, are engaged in an uphill struggle against new totalitarian forces on the left and right.

Even in the Scandinavian countries which they have ruled for decades with moderation and justice, the democratic socialists are fighting for their political life.

Freeman Readers Write the Editor

Colonial City Film Maker, from William Hitchcock often described as an alleged financial backer of the LSD cult.

Dr. Timothy Leary
Editor, The Freeman:

We live in strange times. I remember an exclusive film interview with LSD high priest Dr. Timothy Leary two years ago.

I had a rare chance to speak with this lean and distinguished appearing man at his Transylvanian style estate in Millbrook. Leary greeted me at the estate entranceway and granted an audience in a small book-filled room on the upper floor of the 64-room baroque mansion which was reportedly rented by William Hitchcock often described as an alleged financial backer of the LSD cult.

The "high priest" was finishing the last film sequence of what was described as a psychedelic western. He claimed at the time that members of the LSD group where highly placed in various executive capacities throughout the county.

He said he would not identify them but that their secret was safe with him. His response to a question concerning his upcoming drug trial was he would never come to trial in this country.

There is a public Leary with robe and sandals and a private Leary with "friends."

Prayers in Public Schools
Editor, The Freeman:

Your recent blithe assertion in your editorial column, that secularization in education has gone too far, was shocking to say the least.

The Constitution of the U.S. provides for separation of church and state—no ifs, ands or buts. The founding fathers were right fed up with the religious despots of Europe and Latin America and they meant what they said.

Presumably the writer who made this statement would like to return to the good old days of only a few years ago, in which Miami, Fla. school children, Christian or not, had to participate in prayers and hymns about Jesus, seekers of public office in Maryland had to swear belief in God, and our very own Board of Regents took upon itself the most unconstitutional function of composing a prayer for the use of students in public tax-supported schools.

One interesting aspect of all this—it seems that the people who scream the loudest for law and order are always the most ready to defy the courts and the Constitution when it comes to separation of church and state. Yours very truly,

RICHARD H. ROSICHAN

Fortas in Violation, Says Bar Association

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Bar Association's Ethics Committee has concluded that former Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas violated the Canons of Judicial Ethics in his relations with financier Louis E. Wolfson.

The committee based its judgment, released here Tuesday, entirely on the account Fortas gave Chief Justice Earl Warren last week of his acceptance, and eventual return, of a $20,000 fee in 1966 from the Wolfson Family Foundation.

The committee did not solicit any statement from Fortas and he could not be reached for comment on the judgment.

Meanwhile, it was learned the committee divided 5-2 on whether the judgment should be made public while the Justice Department was investigating and while "Fortas might be trying to vindicate himself."

The division was disclosed in a telephone interview by Floyd B. Sperry, a Bismarck, N.D. lawyer. He said the other committee member to oppose a public statement at this point was Charles W. Joiner dean of the Wayne University law school in Detroit.

The committee held its deliberations in Chicago last Saturday and Sunday. It was unanimous that Fortas had violated Canon 4, which states:

"A judge's official conduct should be free from impropriety and the appearance of impropriety; he should avoid infractions of law; and his personal behavior, not only upon the bench and in the performance of judicial duties, but also in his everyday life, should be beyond reproach."

Fortas is not a member of the bar association, a spokesman said. Enforcement of the Ethics Code is a function of the grievance committee.

The ethics panel decided to leave the decision on whether to make the judgment public to ABA President William T. Gossett. The association did so here, saying the opinion also had been given to Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who had requested an interpretation of the canons in the Fortas case.

The chairman of the Ethics Committee, Walter P. Armstrong Jr., of Memphis—Fortas' former home town—did not join in the judgment and gave no reason.

The other members of the committee are Thomas J. Boodell of Chicago; C. A. Carson III of Phoenix; Benton E. Gates of Columbia City, Ind.; Kirk M. McAlpin of Atlanta and Samuel P. Myers of Racine, Wis.

Will Be Active In Primary, Claims Davis

Burton C. Davis, the Republican nominee for alderman-at-large, said today that even though he has no Republican opposition he will be active in the June 17 Republican primary for mayor.

Davis faced the possibility of a primary himself if the GOP committee on vacancies had named a running mate for Clifford V. Bunting, a mayoral candidate, who had had the name of James B. Thompson on his designating petitions as alderman-at-large.

Thompson subsequently withdrew, leaving Bunting without a running mate. The committee on vacancies chose not to name a man to run with Bunting, because, according to party sources, the party has an alderman-at-large nominee in Davis.

There are three candidates for mayor on the Republican ticket. Bunting, John R. Mayone and the party's unofficial nominee, James J. Tyrrell.

Davis, in a statement today, said, "I will certainly be active in the primary campaign. There are over 4,000 enrolled Republicans in the city of Kingston. I'll feel that we've waged a successful primary campaign if we can turn out over 3,000 voters on June 17.

As far as supporting one of the three hopefuls, Davis said, "A week before our unofficial convention, the committeemen pledged to support the convention nominee. I can see no reason to desert that pledge." Tyrrell was the convention's choice.

Woodstock Plays

Motel, and Woodstock Building Supply.

Of interest is the fact that Justice of the Peace Pufford Baumgarten, who chaired Tuesday's meeting in the absence of Supervisor Milton Hout, voted to have action taken against himself. He is the operator of Rudi's Service Station on Route 28. Also on the list of violators is Kenneth Reynolds, operator of Ken's Service Station on Mill Hill Road, who is a member of the Zoning Review Board. His appointment to the board, as well as that of several others, has been criticized by the Ad Hoc Committee as a "conflict of interest."

As spokesman for the reopening of Big Deep and Mallory Grove petitioners, Dr. Frederick Elias urged the board to reconsider its action to close the recreational areas, stressing that "they belong to and are essential to the people of Woodstock for their use and that of their children." The petitioners feel, he said, that it is the town's responsibility to supervise its own property and provide facilities (litter baskets, latrines and parking, a road, garbage disposal, supervision).

Others, including Democratic committeeman Myron (Mike) Kutcher, joined Dr. Elias in urging the board to "rescind its hastily conceived closure," declare a moratorium on enforcing trespass laws until after the Memorial Day weekend, or hire another full-time constable for duty during the day at Big Deep for the next several weeks.

Baumgarten insisted that the swimming hole "was a shambles from people who used it as a garbage disposal and for nude swimming" and that Woodstock constables have all they can do to maintain the curfew there without trying to properly police it. In the face of allegations that the town has allowed conditions at Big Deep that have been "conducive to the violations" which have occurred, board members agreed to set up a committee to organize proper facilities at the popular swimming hole. Anyone interested in the situation is invited to meet with the board to form such a committee on June 3 at Town Hall. The committee will study the problem and seek ways of raising funds to properly police the property and provide needed facilities.

Since the committee will not meet until after the Memorial Day weekend, the "no trespassing" rules still stand. Close to 100 people have already been arrested and fined for trespassing at Big Deep since May 1, and the holiday at month's end is expected to add to that total.

Many Woodstockers at Tuesday's meeting felt strongly that the closing is aimed at harrasing hippies and other long-haired visitors to the art colony. Among them was Woodstock Playhouse owner Edgar Rosenblum, who suggested that the Town of Woodstock cannot "arbitrarily and capriciously" choose those laws which it wants to enforce against "a small portion of the community." Artist and folk musician Billy Faier put it even more bluntly. "Stop harrasing them because the closing of Big Deep is just what that is," he said.

Will Inspect Cruiser After Request by Fish

KINGSTON

Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., following a telegraphed request to Secretary of the Navy, John H. Chafee, to delay until safe, the sailing of the Guided Missile Cruiser, USS Boston, today announced that he had been informed that there would be a complete inspection of the ship prior to its departure for combat off Vietnam.

In a letter to Secretary Chafee, the 28th District Congressman wrote, "I respectfully request that each deficiency alleged in these newspaper stories be specifically added to the inspection."

DIED

Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife, Michelina Naccarato, who passed away 4 years ago today, May 21.

Today recalls sad memories Of a dear wife gone to rest And the one who thinks of her today

Is the one who loved her best.

HUSBAND

Memoriam

In memory of our mother and grandmother, Michelina Naccarato, who passed away May 21, 4 years ago.

God gave us strength to take it And courage to bear the blow But what it meant to lose her No one will ever know.

CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN

Memoriam

In loving memory of Gurney George Gantner, who departed this life seventeen years ago today, May 21.

The rolling streams of life rolls on, But still the vacant chair, Recalls the voice, the love, the smile,

Of one who once sat there.

Farley Sets Dress Parade This Sunday

RHINECLIFF Camera buffs have an excellent opportunity for color photography this Sunday afternoon at 4:30 at Cardinal Farley Military Academy.

The annual Academic Awards Parade, in full dress uniform, will highlight the afternoon. Colors are red and blue, and West Point has little on this marching group in the way of style.

Scholastic awards will be presented to seniors, who will graduate two weeks hence. Some military awards will be given to senior cadets. And a personal award to a retiring sergeant will be made.

The Cardinal Farley Military Academy drilling squad will participate in both Rhinebeck and Red Hook Memorial Day parades May 30.

And graduation day June 3 will be the last performance of current school year.

July 4 Field Day Activities Listed

SAUGERTIES Field day activities will be the feature of the all-day Independence Day celebration July 4 at Cantine Field.

Saugerties Jaycees, sponsors of the all-day celebration, announced that highlights will include the Brigade of the American Revolution in a battle reenactment, the Hudson Valley Sky Divers parachuting on the field, the Up With People youth chorus, the Kingston Aeromodelers demonstrating model airplanes and Kingston Archery Club exhibiting its skills.

The afternoon listing of events will also include many children's games and exhibits. Fireworks are scheduled at night.

The annual Fourth of July parade will be held in the Village of Saugerties in the morning.

Special tickets distributed by the Jaycees will supplement a portion of the cost of the program. Ticket chairman is Robert Brandt.

Flag Day Picnic Of DAR to Fete Essay Winners

SAUGERTIES Young, showed the new staff and marker, purchased by the Saugerties DAR Chapter, to be placed at the monument located on the Main Street School grounds.

Mrs. Young also reported on the winners of the Flag Essay Contest held in the 7th and 8th grades of the school system. Winners and their parents have been invited to attend the Special Flag Day picnic and meeting to be held Saturday, June 14, at the home of Mrs. Young.

At this time the winners will receive their special prize. All participating students also receive a certificate provided by the local DAR Chapter.

Cheri White, the chapter's adopted student from Tamassee School, celebrated her 9th birthday, May 21. Many gifts and cards were sent to make her day a happy one.

It was announced that the delegates for the state convention, Sept. 24, 25, 26th will be Mrs. Young and Mrs. Daniel Lamouree. Alternates were announced as Mrs. Carrol Neiffer and Mrs. M. S. Loeffler.

National Defense Chairman, Mrs. Robert Freer, read several articles. One was on the hostility toward ROTC in colleges; another on the Electoral College, and the last one on the relation of pornography to crime.

It was reported that 21 new citizens had taken part in the Naturalization Court, five being from this area.

How to put a malicious caller in his place.

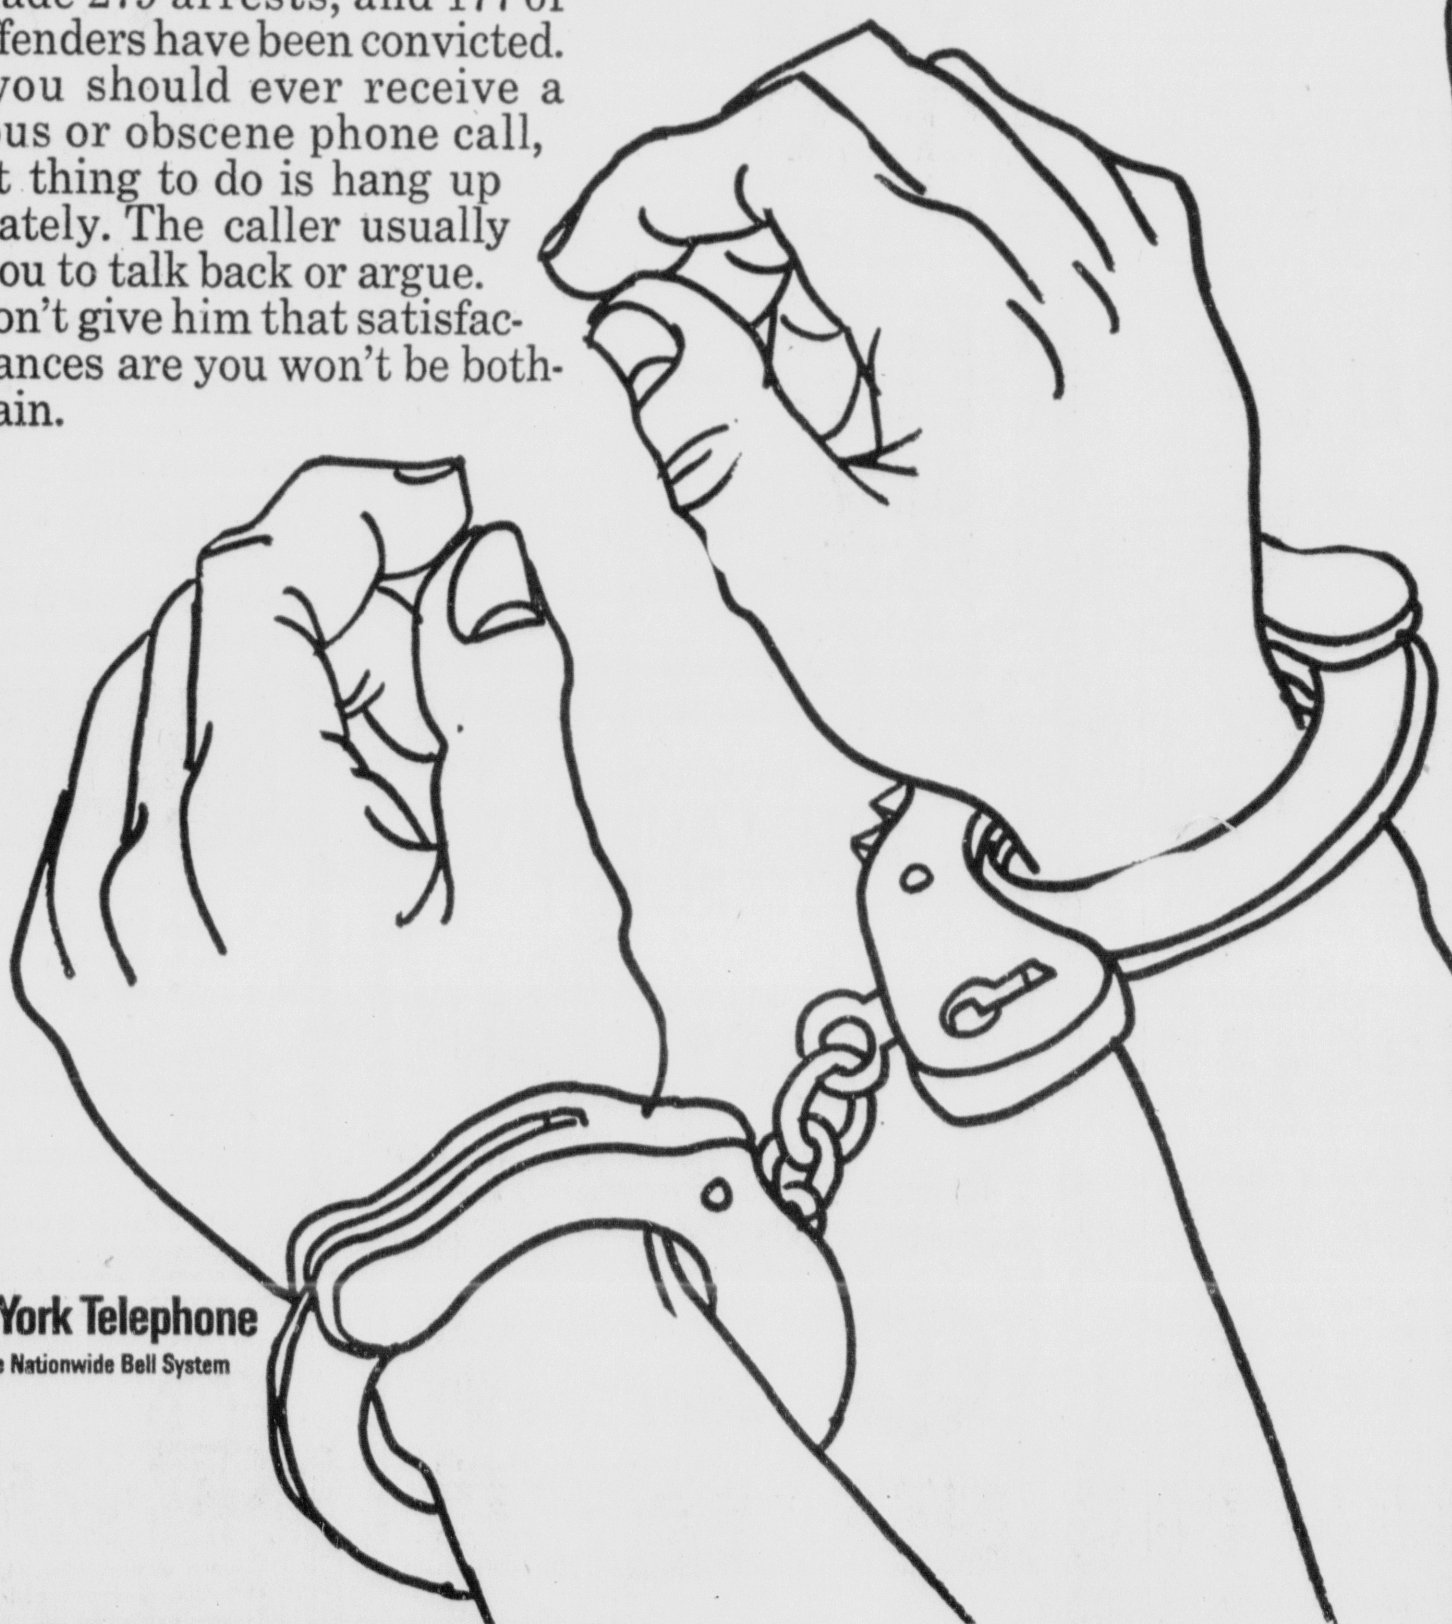

The penalty for making an obscene or harassing call (including those where the caller remains silent) can be as much as a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

We've installed special equipment and set up an Annoyance Call Bureau to work with you and the police to catch offenders. Since this bureau was established, the police have made 279 arrests, and 177 of these offenders have been convicted.

If you should ever receive a malicious or obscene phone call, the best thing to do is hang up immediately. The caller usually wants you to talk back or argue. If you don't give him that satisfaction, chances are you won't be bothered again.

But if the calls should persist, contact your telephone business office or, after hours, just dial Operator and the Annoyance Call Bureau will take it from there.

We believe your right of telephone privacy is important. We don't want to see it abused. And with your cooperation, we'll do our best to see that it isn't.

SHERIFF MARTIN

Sheriff To Speak In Hurley

HURLEY
Hurley Grange, 963, will sponsor the annual Memorial Day rites at historic cemetery off Route 209 in Hurley on Friday, May 30. In case of inclement weather the program will be held in Hurley Fire Hall. Guest speaker will be Sheriff William B. Martin. A parade will form at Hurley School at 10:30 a. m. and proceed to the cemetery for the formal program starting at 11 a. m. Mrs. Walter Stauble is chairman of the parade and memorial rites.

April Report Is Given for County Jail

KINGSTON
The average daily population at Ulster County Jail during April was 65, according to a report of the office of the sheriff, William B. Martin.

In addition to the 58 prisoners in confinement as of March 31, 238 males and 13 females were admitted. Of this number 142 were held for grand jury or trial, 102 were sentenced to the institution, five were in custody as debtors and two for other causes. The report showed that 244 were discharged.

Trustee working hours numbered 2,498 at two dollars per hour. Sheriff Martin indicated that this represents a saving to the county of $4,996. Under the department of special services it is reported that 28 pistol permits were issued, 34 pistols were registered $174 in receipts were totaled in the Pistol Permit Bureau and 131, record checks were made.

Fifty man hours were spent with regard to the parking lot with 60 summonses issued and a total income of $524.30.

In the criminal department, the sheriff reports that 222 complaints were investigated with 120 closed through investigation, 65 by arrest and 37 left open.

Motorists assisted numbered 69, 18 accidents were investigated, 15 vehicular and traffic arrests were made and 35 misdemeanor warrants were executed, including family court. In addition there were 58 felony warrants executed and 55 felony arrests, 20 misdemeanor arrests and 38 family court summonses served.

Miles covered by patrol cars numbered 22,489, the value of property recovered totaled $817, 17 prisoners were transported to other institutions and 275 hours were spent attending school. Special details required 204 hours and hours guard and desk duty totaled 1,869 hours.

In the civil department, summonses and subpoenas totaled 93, district attorney subpoenas, 22, commitment orders, 7; income executions, 76; total property executions, 23; receipts from bails and fines, $11,780; receipts from executions, $13,618 and receipts from fees, $2,156.69.

Egg Facility In New Paltz Closing June 30

NEW PALTZ
Country Best Agway Inc. announced recently that it plans to stop operations at its New Paltz Egg processing plant.

T. J. Nakoski, egg products division metropolitan regional manager, said that the facility will be closed as of June 30.

The 25 employees of the plant, which was built in 1962, were notified last week of the plans to close and a program is underway to place key supervisory personnel in other positions at Agway.

Nakoski said high operating costs and a persistent waste disposal problem are the chief reasons for the decision to close the New Paltz plant.

"Production of a convenience egg product line for the hospital, restaurant, and institutional field, which was pioneered by Agway at the New Paltz plant, will be continued at another location," Nakoski said.

JAMES J. LANIGAN

Honors Scheduled In June

TOWN OF ULSTER

The Holy Name Society of St. Catherine Labourer Church will hold a testimonial dinner to honor James J. Lanigan a devoted and loyal worker for the church. Lanigan's service to the church began when he served as chairman of the committee whose efforts resulted in the announcement of the forming of the parish on September 26, 1957.

At present Lanigan is chairman of the Parent's Association's 20 Week Club. For many years a leading political figure in the Town of Ulster, he was chairman of the Democratic party there for 18 years.

Lanigan served in the United States Infantry during World War II. He retired from the Penn-Central Railroad in 1968 after 33 years of service.

Lanigan resides on Van Keuren Highway in Town of Ulster with his wife the former Rita Kavanaugh of Poughkeepsie. On June 4, this year, they will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

The dinner will be held June 7 at 7 p. m. at Arnold's Restaurant Route 28. Reservations may be made until June 1, by calling dinner chairman Victor Nerone or James Linnartz, or in writing to Victor Nerone, 761 Lincoln Park Place, Kingston.

Hearing Set In Rhinebeck On Zoning

RHINEBECK

A public hearing will be held June 9 to determine if reclassification in the zoning ordinance of the Village of Rhinebeck should be granted to the property of Rhinebeck Recreation, Inc.

Attorney Mandeville Frost brought the request to the attention of village trustees, who voted to give the matter an airing.

The property in question, on Route 9, is currently being used for commercial purposes. Frost's interests felt that rezoning for residential would be in their best interests.

Residents of Cramer Park, adjoining the property, have opposed a change for several years. Mayor Peter Sipperley emphasized that the hearing would be brought to light at the hearing, but that no action would be taken unless the village board so decreed at a later date.

The Credit Terms

CHICAGO (AP) - Anyone extending credit to the consumer will have to tell it like it is beginning July 1, 1969.

Commerce Clearing House said that's the date when the new Truth-in-Lending Act goes into effect. It requires the disclosure of credit terms on all types of consumer credit.

The Federal Reserve Board is the supervisory agency in setting out the rules that are to be followed in credit transactions generally.

Air Battle Over the Suez— Three Egyptian Planes Downed

By United Press International
Israeli planes and missiles destroyed three Egyptian MIG21 jet fighters in two separate clashes over the Suez Canal sector today, an Israeli military spokesman reported in Tel Aviv. He said another Soviet-built plane was damaged. In Amman, a Jordanian military spokesman said an Israeli tank and troop force crossed the cease-fire line under an air cover of jet fighters and helicopter gunships but were driven back by Jordanian troops in a 4½ hour battle.

The Israeli spokesman said the air battle began when a "number" of Egyptian MIG fighters tried to invade Israeli airspace north of Qantara in the occupied Sinai Peninsula. One of the Egyptian planes was hit by a Hawk ground-to-air missile and was seen exploding in flight, he said.

At the same time, the spokesman said a "number" of other Egyptian air force planes tried to penetrate over the Great Bitter Lake, further south on the Suez Canal cease-fire line.

"Israeli air force planes were sent out," he said. "Two Egyptian MIG21 fighter planes were downed in the ensuing dogfight. They were seen crashing in Egyptian territory west of the Bitter Lake."

He said another Egyptian MIG21 was damaged in the air battle.

All Israeli planes returned safely to their bases, the spokesman said.

The report of the strike into Jordan was carried by Amman radio.

Charges Made By City Police

KINGSTON

Kingston police charged two persons with speeding, another for speeding and failure to produce a registration and a youth for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle during the past 24 hours.

Gregory Rosebrook, 17, of 160 Washington Avenue was arrested at 5:15 p. m. Tuesday for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Richard Gugg, 21, of Stone Road, West Hurley, was charged with speeding at 9:05 p. m. last night. Gerald Brown, 32, of Highland was also charged with speeding and was apprehended at 3:22 a. m.

James E. Whalen, 33, of Clinton Hollow Road, Salt Point, was charged with speeding and failure to produce a registration. The incident occurred at 6:01 a. m. today, according to police.

All are awaiting court action on their cases.

Governor Signs Bell Amendment To Labor Bill

KINGSTON — Bell introduced the legislation and pay double fees. The present system works a particular hardship on small resort owners in the Catskill mountain area.

The Bell amendment eliminates this duplication of work and eliminates the double fee system. It maintains the same standards of inspection and will result in a savings to the resort owner.

Under existing law both the state and local municipal governments inspect places of public assembly. The property owner must annually submit to double inspections by two different agencies of government.

Attorney to Swiss Court: Mrs. Roosevelt Under Stress

GENEVA (AP) — Mrs. James Roosevelt, accused of wounding her husband, "was under great stress and convinced that her husband was about to leave her—perhaps the next day—for another woman," her attorney told a Swiss court today.

The eldest son of Franklin D. Roosevelt was in a Swiss hospital with a knife wound in his back as the court opened a preliminary hearing. Mrs. Roosevelt was in Bel Air Psychiatric Clinic, where she was taken after her husband was stabbed at the Roosevelt's Lake Geneva villa last Thursday.

The court set her bail at 50,000 Swiss francs, the equivalent of $11,500. The bail was posted for her.

Telling of Mrs. Roosevelt's tensions, her lawyer, Dominique Poncet, said she had threatened suicide.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been booked on a holding charge accusing her of wounding her husband.

Following the preliminary hearing, the attorney general now has to decide whether he has a case. This is likely to take several months.

Jean-Pierre Horjaud, president of the three-judge court, said she could be tried on one of three charges—attempted murder, causing grievous bodily harm, or simple assault with a dangerous weapon.

Jean Weber, for the attorney general, opposed bail. He said that despite "the great name of Roosevelt," all people should be judged equally "the rich and the poor, the weak and the powerful."

According to Sheriff's deputies who investigated the 4:45 p. m. accident, a car driven by William Reynolds of RD 2, Box 286, Kingston, was headed west on Mt. Road when it hit the right rear of a car headed east driven by Doris Landerway of 33 Stuyvesant Street, Kingston. The Reynolds car continued on to a collision with a car that was behind the Landerway vehicle driven by Miss Mary Waterman of 86 Hone Street.

Injuries were reported to Miss Waterman (head), Miss Barbara Rouger of 106 Abruyn Street, a passenger in the Waterman car (leg) and Mrs. Diane Reynolds, a passenger in the Reynolds car (head and chest).

There have been no summonses issued in the accident, sheriff's deputies report.

Niarchos Turns Tables on Onassis

ATHENS (UPI)—Over the years, shipping magnate Aristotele Onassis has chalked up some notable financial and social victories over his archrival and former brother-in-law, Stavros Niarchos.

Niarchos turned the tables Tuesday.

Unless Onassis comes up with a surprise, it looks like Niarchos will score the biggest victory of his life over the man they call the Golden Greek.

The prize is worth $500 million and consists of an oil refinery, aluminum complex and other industrial and tourist facilities.

It seemed six months ago nothing could prevent Onassis from winning the approval of the military regime to build and operate the scheme, described as the largest in Greek history.

Reaped Publicity

The 62-year-old ship owner had just reaped worldwide publicity and the goodwill of the Greek regime by marrying the former Mrs. John F. Kennedy on his private island of Skorpios.

His bid of $400 million was accepted by the government, which pronounced the bidding closed.

A tentative contract was signed in Athens in March. Onassis played host at a news conference punctuated by the sound of popping champagne corks.

Then Niarchos broke his months of silence—with a bid topping Onassis' by $100 million. Still, the government refused to reconsider.

Niarchos had a couple of aces up his sleeve. He said he would give the dollars-hungry regime a low-interest, long-term $150 million loan.

More important, he posted $20 million in a Swiss bank as a deposit to show he meant business. Onassis never put up any cash.

Still the government refused to reconsider.

Niarchos then said he would undercut Onassis' transport costs on crude oil to be shipped for use in the proposed new, seven million-ton capacity refinery. He challenged the government to call for more bids, using his offer as a minimum.

The government asked Onassis to raise his bid to meet Niarchos. Government sources said Onassis did nothing.

Then Coordination Minister

Nickolas Makarezos summoned newsmen.

"Having the interest of the country in mind," he said, "the government has no other course but to invite again those interested to make new and better proposals."

New bids would be accepted until July 5, he said, and Niarchos' bid is the starting point. Onassis made no comment.

A spokesman for Niarchos hailed the government decision and said Niarchos was preparing to make bid even "better."

He did not elaborate. There were indications Niarchos would win by default.

Informed sources said Onassis did not plan to raise his bid. It would be the first time in more than 20 years of intense, often acrimonious, battle that Onassis or Niarchos has beaten the other without a fight to the bitter end.

Martorana Is 'Surprised' By 2 Committeemen Foes

PLATTEKILL County Legislator Joseph Martorana (R-Ninth District), also a GOP committeeman from Plattekill's Third District, expressed "surprise" today at the identity of the two candidates who have filed petitions to oppose him and Salvatore Dolcemascosco for their committeemen posts in the June Primary.

In a press release issued by Martorana he says, "The two opponents who have created a June Primary for the GOP committeemen posts are Robert A. Engle Jr., who last year headed the 'Republicans' for Dyson committee, which actively and strongly sought the defeat of Republican Congressional candidate Hamilton Fish Jr., and Harold Jacobs, who until recently was an enrolled Democrat."

Commenting "on the desire of Engle and Jacobs to become Republican committeemen," Martorana observed, "This is the prerogative of any enrolled member of any party to run for party office, although it involves additional costs to the taxpayers of the Town of Plattekill and Ulster County. However, it is surprising to see that the committee on vacancies is composed of three Republican committeemen from 'outside' the Third Election District and include John Klein, town GOP chairman."

Martorana noted further that "It is surprising to see the town chairman, who in the past strongly expressed a distaste for primaries and for dissidents within the Republican Party, to be part of a contradiction to his own avowed principles."

"During recent general elections when true party loyalty was at stake, both Engle and Jacobs worked against Republican candidates. Now Klein is supporting both of these individuals—a contradiction of good and loyal Republicanism if there ever was one," Martorana concluded.

Pointing to his own candidacy and that of Dolcemascosco, he stated he was pleased and honored to have been designated as a candidate for nomination by the GOP for the office of committeeman.

Martorana concluded that both

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Attorney General Louis K. Lefkowitz mentioned four men Tuesday night as among those Governor Rockefeller may be considering to succeed Kenneth B. Keating as an associate justice of the Court of Appeals.

Has Offers

LONDON (UPI)—A Cunard Steamship Co. spokesman said Tuesday it has offers to buy the Queen Elizabeth moored at Port Everglades, Fla. The spokesman said a London group wants to buy the vessel for $7.2 million for cruises between Britain and Australia. The ship is owned by the Elizabeth Corp., which Cunard controls.

Police arrested 47 persons and charged 35 with offenses. Charges against most were dropped.

Miss Horn still faces trial on a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon, a knife.

Barry Perles of Montreal, a member of the Canadian National Film Board, also faces charges of provoking others to disturb the peace and attempting to damage automobile tires. No trial date has been set.

Case Adjourned

Lester Chester Jansen, 30, of this city, pleaded innocent Tuesday in City Court to a charge of petit larceny, and the case was adjourned until Thursday for hearing. Bail was fixed at $250.

According to police, Jansen was accused of taking the contents of two piggy banks while visiting at an Elmendorf Street residence recently.

Mount Vernon Tells State: Cannot Comply

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Mount Vernon Board of Education said Tuesday the city cannot afford to comply with a state order to correct racial imbalance in public schools.

Eugene Morris, a representative of the board, told the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court that the order would result in $2 to $3 million in additional costs, mostly for transportation and lunches for children no longer attending neighborhood schools.

The district has reached its debt limit, he said, and funds are not available to implement the order. The district has a total budget of $14 million.

Dr. James E. Allen Jr., while state education commissioner, issued the integration order last June. Allen, who recently became U.S. education commissioner, contended that the racial imbalance impeded educational opportunity.

Morris said the case marked the first time the state education commissioner's power to compel an elected board to implement such an order had been contested.

The north side of the city is predominantly white and the south side mainly Negro.

Louis Welch, who represented the State Education Department, said the order contains nothing that would require the board to provide transportation. Franklin E. White, who appeared in behalf of Negro pupils, argued instead that "busing would seem to flow naturally."

The opposing parties also referred to a bill passed by the 1969 legislature and signed by Gov. Rockefeller that bars the state education commissioner from assigning pupils to schools on the basis of such factors as race. The law becomes effective Sept. 1.

Welch said the new law, however, would be "irrelevant to the enforcement of this order by the court."

Eliminate Chiropractic From Medicare: Physicians

The Comitia Minora of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster has recommended that chiropractic be eliminated from the Medicare program.

Termining chiropractic a "health hazard." The Society's executive committee pointed to the American Medical Association's position that chiropractic is an "unscientific cult whose practitioners lack the training and background to diagnose and treat human disease."

Three Developments

The Ulster county physician's group cited three major developments against chiropractic, all of which are from outside the AMA and organized medicine:

A recent study by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare concluded that "chiropractic theory and practice are not based upon the body of basic knowledge relating to health, disease and health care that has been widely accepted by the scientific community. Moreover, irrespective of its theory, the scope and quality of chiropractic education do not prepare the practitioner to make an adequate diagnosis and provide appropriate treatment. Therefore, it is recommended that chiropractic service not be covered in the Medicare program."

The report was signed by Wilbur J. Cohen, former HEW secretary. The National Council of Senior Citizens, who are themselves Medicare recipients, oppose chiropractic, noting that "chiropractors, since they are not trained to recognize disease, may state a course of worthless adjustments which could delay the patient's seeing a qualified physician. . . . There are many diseases including cancer, which might be cured if diagnosed and treated in the early stages. . . ."

The U. S. Supreme Court has upheld a decision by the U.S. District Court in New Orleans that the State of Louisiana can properly refuse to license chiropractors unless they meet the same educational standards required of medical practitioners. The HEW report referred to by the local medical group included the following statement relative to education:

"The inadequacies of chiropractic education, coupled with a theory that de-emphasizes proven causative factors in disease processes, and proven methods of treatment, and differential diagnosis, make it unlikely that a chiropractor can make and adequate diagnosis and know the appropriate treatment, and subsequently provided the indicated treatment or refer the patient. Lack of these capabilities in independent practitioners is undesirable because: appropriate treatment could be delayed or prevented entirely; appropriate treatment might be interrupted or stopped completely; the treatment offered could be contraindicated; all treatments have some risk involved with their administration, and inappropriate treatment exposes the patient to this risk unnecessarily."

Words and Pictures

CC and the 'Kingston Story'

KINGSTON—The "Kingston Story" in words and pictures will be published in a booklet form by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, president Jeremiah Sachs announced this week.

"We're going to put a new sales tool in the hands of the Chamber," Dr. Sachs said. "This book will tell the story of the Kingston area and will give us a chance to put our best foot forward in attracting new industry and residents."

"Cost of publishing the book will be underwritten by advertising space purchased by members of the Kingston area business community," Sachs explained.

The decision to publish the book was reached by the Board of Directors of the Chamber when this program was presented to the Board for approval. Windsor Publications, who specializes in preparing books on cities in the United States, will publish the book.

In the next few days, a team from Windsor will begin shooting pictures and gathering facts in Kingston. They will cover transportation, utilities, and commerce in the city, plus the schools, churches, residential and recreational areas of the city.

When asked how the book will be distributed, Dr. Sachs said: "We'll use them to solicit new industry and recruit management personnel and professional people to our area."

Local industry will use them for hiring, as will the school board and hospitals.

Anyone interested in obtaining further information should contact the Chamber office.

Onteora and Kingston Win Contests in Mathematics

BOICEVILLE 14 points to tie for second and Saugerties scored 13 to wrap up third place. Myron J. Michael and Clifford M. Miller schools earned 8 points each to round out the scoring with 5 and 4 points respectively.

The Ulster County Mathematics League will be merging with schools from Orange and Sullivan counties to form a 24 team league in the 1969-70 school year. There will be six contests during the year beginning in October.

Brisk Business For Food Stamps

KINGSTON—More applications for food stamps than anticipated has been reported by Social Service Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimons.

Although the applications have only just been made available, reports indicate that business is brisk.

The Food Stamp program to be inaugurated June 1 will supplement the present food surplus program and enable participants to enjoy a greater variety of foods. Surplus items usually number from 11 to 16 items whereas under the stamp plan, up to 2,000 items will be available. Interest in the plan, as indicated by applications, dispels any worries that might have prevailed regarding a possible boycott of the stamp plan by various persons throughout the county who oppose the program.

Saugerties Man in New IBM Post

Joseph L. Brown, director of the IBM Kingston Laboratory, has announced the promotion of Alan N. Higgins of Saugerties, to the position of senior programmer.

Higgins is responsible for all programming development and product programming activities for the Operating System/360 Supervisor. The Supervisor program is one of the principal elements which control the activities and resources of the Operating System.

He joined IBM in New York City in July 1960, as a programmer trainee. One month later, he transferred to IBM Poughkeepsie, where he was promoted to associate programmer in December 1961 and to senior associate programmer in May 1962.

Rondout Promotion

MRS. CHARLES D. KING

James Norton, president of the Rondout Savings Bank, has announced the addition of Mrs. Charles D. King to the bank's staff. She is a graduate of Kingston High School and also attended Moravian Business School in Kingston. Her husband is a development engineer at IBM. The Kings reside at 57 Clifton Avenue and have two daughters, Gail who attends the State University at Oneonta, and Barbara Ann, who is married and lives in Albany. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

JOHN J. CONNELL

TRANSFERRED — John J. Connell, long-time Ulster County resident and former district manager of the Suburban Propane LP-gas sales, service and distribution center at 584 Albany Avenue in Kingston, has been transferred to the company's office at Williamsburg, Va., as district manager.

Schneiders Visit Cities in Japan

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Schneider were among a group of jewelers, all members of The American Gem Society, who attended the AGS Conclave in San Francisco recently. At the conclusion of the event they toured the Orient as part of the society's Field Study Tour.

While in Japan, the Schneiders visited the Pearl Farm of Yamakatsu, the largest producer in Japan. The group also visited Taiwan, where Taiwan jade is mined and cut and polished for jewelry and objects of art.

They also visited Hong Kong where they observed the cutting of opals and the making of jewelry.

Award Contract For Memorial To Mrs. FDR

POUGHKEEPSIE Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. today announced approval by Robert L. Kunzig, administrator general services, of a contract award of $1,388,825 for the construction of an Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial addition to the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park.

The construction costs for the contract are being shared by the federal government and the Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation.

Congressman Fish being a member of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Commission, said "we already have a design and are in the process of passing legislation to build a fitting memorial to President Roosevelt in Washington."

Higgins came to IBM Kings-Cross College, Worcester, Mass., in May 1964, and during where he received a bachelor's degree in science degree in biology. He is currently completing studies in Operating System/360 Support. In February 1967, he was promoted to development programmer in Programming Publications and has served as Operating Systems/360 Supervisor and Design Improvements manager since January 1969. He is a graduate of Holy Higgins, his wife Amy, and daughters Sandra and Judith, reside at 26 Cherry Lane, Saugerties.

Fisher Elected Chemist Fellow

SAUGERTIES

Robert D. Fisher has been nominated and elected as a Fellow in The American Institute of Chemists. The American Institute of Chemists selects, from time to time, leading American chemists as Fellows in appreciation of their professional contributions to chemistry. Institute Fellows include leaders who span the professional scene from industry to the Nobel Prize.

Fisher is chief engineer, Materials Research for Ferroxcube Corporation, Saugerties. In 1968 he was the recipient of the George F. Hogaboom Memorial Award from the American Electroplating Society, at their annual convention in San Francisco.

Fisher received his BS in chemistry in 1953 and his MS in physical chemistry in 1954 from Kansas State University.

He is listed in the American Men of Science and Leading Men in the United States. He is a member of many professional societies including The Electrochemical Society, The American Association for Advancement of Science, and a member of the National Honorary Society, Sigma Xi.

Fisher and his wife reside with their two children on Vandale Road in Woodstock.

Edmunds, Former Saugerties Jaycee President, Elected to Lead District 2

WOODSTOCK II, New York State Jaycees for the coming year. It was a hotly contested election between Kingston, New Paltz, Red Hook, Edmunds and Ralph Jerry of Rondout Valley, Saugerties and Woodstock which took two ballots to decide the final outcome.

Key in Spectacular

Edmunds is the former president of the Saugerties Jaycees for 1968-1969 and the last half president of District II, Division of 1968 due to transfers of several of the officers last year, held in Kingston for the past year. Not only has he been active on the local level but has participated in District, Division and state affairs. Currently he is active in the campaign of Frank Antalek of Saugerties for New York State Jaycees President. He has also been a mainstay in running the New York State Sports Spectacular program with his church, American Legion, Saugerties Town Recreation Committee, Explorer Scouts and Community Chest. He has pledged to the District II Jaycees a year of active liaison between each of the chapters and the New York State Jaycees.

178 in Attendance

The district meeting hosted by the Woodstock Jaycees turned out 178 Jaycees and wigs, international fashions and wives. The wives had a special physical fitness exercises program at Deanie's restaurant. District President, Paul DeLisio, sent a special thanks to everyone for their Jaycee efforts throughout the year and to the Woodstock Jaycees and Jaynees.

Port Ben Tool to Buy C-H Site

NAPANOCH Engineering Corporation from the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., it was announced. A small tract of land near the Port Ben Tool Manuf-

Permission for the transfer of the 3.8 acre site, which includes an unused building, was granted to the utility company by the Public Service Commission.

The site, to be sold for $8,000, is part of a 16-acre tract of land owned by Central Hudson. Another parcel of less than an acre is expected to be conveyed to New York State for a road.

According to the agreement, Central Hudson will retain a 100 foot-right-of-way across the land to be sold.

In a report to the Public Service Commission, Joseph E. Raso, general engineering bureau chief, noted that the sale will remove the property from Central Hudson's books, "at a price which will enable it to recoup at least part of its investment."

Conservation Field Day Is Set May 27

NEW PALTZ

More than 600 Ulster County sixth grade students representing the St. Catherine Laboure, St. Joseph's, New Paltz Middle School, Tillson Elementary School, Highland Elementary, and the Harry L. Edson School, will spend Tuesday, May 27 at the Mid-Hudson Catskill Museum area in New Paltz, site of the third annual Ulster County Conservation Youth Education Field Day.

Students and teachers will tour the following 13 demonstration areas covering these many phases of conservation: timber stand improvement, timber harvesting, fire control, game management, hunter safety, conservation planning, conservation practices, stream protection, fish management, reforestation, soil science, fish and wildlife management act, and marsh management and furbearers.

This Conservation Field Day Program is organized and supported by the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H and Agricultural Departments; the State Conservation Department, Division of Fish and Game and Division of Land and Forests; Ulster County Soil Conservation Service; Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and County Federation of Sportsmen.

Members of the Conservation Committee working with this program are Thomas Benenati, New Paltz Central School; Thomas Atkins, 4-H Department; Edward Langton, elementary supervisor, Kingston Schools Consolidated; Francis Mulvaney, United States Soil Conservation Service; William Palmer and Robert Guzewich, Ulster County Cooperative Extension Service, Agriculture Department; Donald Weaver, Ulster County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Commission; Warren McKoon, Bruce Burton, Robert Greene and Forrest Wright of the State Conservation Department; and Daniel Smiley, Lake Mohonk.

This event has been very successful in past years and it is hoped that it will become an annual event in one form or another in bringing conservation education to school children in Ulster County.

Speech, Hearing Meet Is Held In Monticello

The 9th annual convention of the New York State Speech and Hearing Association was held recently at Kutscher's Country Club, Monticello with Miss Edith G. Lang, Mrs. Cheryl D. Bigelow, and Kent Korber, speech pathologists of Kingston City Schools in attendance.

Convention activities included invited guest lecturers, panel discussions, and the presentation of scientific papers as well as commercial exhibits.

The Speech Therapy Department has been an essential inclusion in the Kingston Schools for the past 13 years. Kingston was one of the first school systems in the state to institute such a program and its effectiveness is an asset to the total educational structure.

Jews 'Demand' Gefilte Fish In the River

CANTON, N.Y. (AP) — With tongue tucked firmly in cheek, a group of "militant" Jewish students at St. Lawrence University here have made 49 demands on the school administration.

The "Militant Macabees" Tuesday said they wanted, among other things:

— A Moshe Dayan Chair in ROTC.

— The Junior year in Israel or The Bronx.

— An independent study program in Miami Beach or the Catskills.

— The campus river stocked with Gefilte fish, and bagels, lox and cream cheese every morning for breakfast.

Welcome for Katrine GI After Service in Vietnam

By WALTER S. CLARK

LAKE KATRINE
"Welcome Home Michael."

That was the wording on a large banner that stretched across Lake Road in this Town of Ulster community Saturday near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Monahan.

The purpose was to add to the happiness of a greeting extended to Sp 5 Michael J. Monahan by his parents and many neighbors and friends who welcomed him on his return home after serving a year with the U.S. Army in Vietnam.

The 20-year-old GI was hosted at a party that lasted for hours at the Monahan residence. Guests included neighbors of the family and many friends who hurried to the Lake Road home after learning Michael had returned on leave from the Army.

"We were so happy to see that Michael was in good health," said his mother.

Two Promotions

During his service in Vietnam, Monahan received two promotions. He was a PFC when he left this country for his assignment in electronics in May of 1968. On his uniform he proudly wore the Vietnam Campaign Ribbon and the Vietnam Service Ribbon.

Mrs. Monahan noted that the welcome home banner had been made and placed across Lake Road by next-door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William J. East. The banner probably will remain on display at least until young Monahan reports back for duty after a 40-day furlough.

Upon completion of his stay at home, he will be assigned to Germany, Monahan said.

The party for the veteran on Saturday was the second held in honor of the youth since he landed by plane in New Jersey last Friday. That night he went to the home of a sister, Mrs. Eileen Costa, in Astoria, L. I., where he was feted by many friends and neighbors of the Costa family.

Also attending the Astoria event were two other sisters of Monahan, Mrs. Maryann Gordon and Mrs. Patricia Francescone and their families.

On his arrival at his home here the following day, Monahan was warmly greeted by his parents and a group of neighbors. A party lasted all day and into the wee hours of Sunday morning, as scores of friends went there to greet the Vietnam veteran.

Monahan is a graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1967. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in July of that year, received his basic training at Fort Knox and his advanced training at Fort Gordon. He shipped to Vietnam in May, 1968.

Monahan, who will observe his 21st birthday in June, hopes to buy a new automobile before he leaves for Germany. He and his father, who is employed in the Kingston Daily Freeman composing room, went shopping for a new car on Monday.

WHITA Membership To Meet on May 26

KINGSTON
A membership meeting of WHITA (We've Had It Taxpayers' Association of Ulster County) has been scheduled for May 26 at eight o'clock at the George Washington School on Washington Avenue in Kingston.

Many matters and issues of vital concern to taxpayers are on the agenda for the meeting, including reports by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and Senator Jay Rollison who will report on the past session of the New York State Legislature as to its accomplishments and what, in effect, it can and will mean to the average taxpayer in the future.

Ulster Tops Its Quota For Cancer Monies

TOWN OF ULSTER
Cancer Crusade Chairman for the Town of Ulster, Willard Goodheim, has reported a successful campaign for the town for this year. The contributions received from residents was $2,821.55. With a goal of $2,500 in the Town of Ulster, this put them "over the top."

A total of 144 volunteers, working under the direction of 20 district captains, received contributions from almost 1,700 supporters. The number of contributions this year was significantly greater than last year. The amount contributed this year is more than double that of 1968.

Contributions from the business community are still being received. Goodheim announced that a number of pledges are yet to be fulfilled and he encouraged those people to send in their checks to the Ulster Unit of The American Cancer Society. The Crusade for contributions from businesses in the town are expected to bring the town's total support in the fight against cancer to over $3,000.

Hurley Delays Discussion on Master Plan

HURLEY
Hurley Town and Planning Boards, meeting jointly Monday night to consider professional recommendations with regard to a master plan, postponed discussion to June 16 in order to have more time to study proposals.

Supervisor Robert Schneller said today the two boards discussed the matter briefly but intend to engage in a full discussion at a later date.

Hurley is among many Ulster County towns which have had the services of community planners, Brown and Anthony. The consulting firm has prepared a master plan which is tied in with county planning and has made recommendations to the town.

Earlier in the meeting Robert Ronder, representing Floyd Vogt, Rolling Meadows, is the developer, presented plans for a new subdivision in the housing development.

BOCES Tour Set Thursday

The Northern Dutchess chapter of the Church Women United will tour BOCES facilities Thursday under the guidance of Virgil MacCabe of Rhinebeck, BOCES director.

All those wishing to attend may meet at the Rhinebeck Methodist Church at 12:30 p.m. on that date.

Church Women United is a world wide organization. Emily Schultz, presently doing missionary work in Jamaica, is the local chapter president. While she is away Mrs. James Torpy is acting president.

Kiwanis Rose Sale To Start

KINGSTON

The annual sale of roses for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund of the Kingston Kiwanis Club is scheduled to begin Thursday, it was announced by Harlow F. DeForest, chairman of the 1969 rose sale.

For several years the Kingston Kiwanis Club has sold roses by the dozen, delivered anywhere, and has realized profits in excess of a thousand dollars for the benefit of the many scholarships annually awarded to students of local schools for the furtherance of their education.

Rose Day for 1969 is September 20 — the date when the dozens of roses will be delivered throughout the area and even, from past records, to other countries.

DeForest said that all members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club will have rose cards to be filled out for delivery on Rose Day. He said that the sale of roses would continue for a period of four weeks.

Rules of Members

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon is reported to have ruled out appointing any members of the 91st Congress to the Supreme Court. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, chairman of the Republican conference, said Nixon told the GOP congressional leadership of his decision. With the resignation of Abe Fortas and the imminent retirement of Chief Justice Earl Warren, Nixon has two appointments to make.

U.S.D.A. REPORTS ALL MEATS ARE ON THE RISE!

It is now publicized that the entire meat industry is on the increase, with the ceiling not yet in sight. This is a situation not controllable at store level. However, at Mohican during these times we refuse to lower our strict buying standards and accept beef that is not of finest quality. We will also endeavor to give you a feature item that will enable you to fill your menu requirements. We, above all, want to see the price of meat come down to where it should be, and we hope it will in the near future.

Beginners' Dance Class Will Start Wednesday, May 28th

Miss Mona Lisa Gioconda will start another beginner's dance class at YWCA, 709 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, on Wednesday, May 28 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The six-week course is open to single men and women and couples. Lessons will consist of basic steps in the waltz, rumba, foxtrot, cha cha cha, tango, and others used in ballroom dancing.

Miss Gioconda has taught social dancing professionally in the New York City Dance School and is a Systems programmer for IBM, Kingston.

Due to the popularity of the classes and the limited space, enrollment will be on a first come, first serve basis.

The YWCA is a member of Ulster County Community Chest.

GOP Women Plan Spring Luncheon

Plans were announced today for the upcoming annual spring luncheon of Ulster County Women's Republican Club to be held at the Alpine Restaurant, Rosendale, Saturday, June 7 at 12:30 p.m. Co-chairmen of the event are Miss Ellen Donovan and Miss Barbara Read.

S. James Matthews, local attorney, spoke at the Thursday evening, May 15, meeting of the Women's Republican Club. Mr. Matthews' guideline for his talk on the Structure of Local Government was 59 questions varying from the four units of local government to rules regarding voting on Primary Day, June 17.

Involving the audience, Mr. Matthews asked that each member answer the questions and then a discussion was held afterwards. County, Town, City and Village governments were defined and the governing bodies of each discussed thoroughly. Pertinent facts brought out included the following: Ulster County is one of 62 counties in the State of New York, Wyoming County being the last to be created in 1914; the City of Kingston is one of 62 cities within New York State varying in population from 3000 in Sherrill, to more than seven million in New York City; the 20 towns of Ulster County are only a small part of the 931 towns within the state; the five villages of Ulster County, New Paltz, Rosendale, Ellenville, Saugerties and Pine Hill, are five of 545 in the State of New York; the Towns of Wawarsing and Saugerties are the only first class towns within Ulster County although the Town of Ulster will perhaps become first class after the next census. Towns become first class when they reach 10,000 residents.

Functions, salaries, length of term in office was brought out by Mr. Matthews covering the highest office in country government through town, city and village governing bodies and the three judicial bodies with the county. County Court, Surrogate Court and Family Court.

Mrs. Thomas Hanrahan, president, gave brief resume of the Third Judicial District Workshop held in Albany recently. Eight members of the club attended this workshop. Mrs. Raymond LeFever, Ulster County Republican Party vice chairman, was one of the instructors for the workshop.

The Ulster County Women's Republican Club has created a memorial fund in the name of the late Julia Fish. This fund will be given in the name of Julia Fish to become a part of the Jane Todd Scholarship Fund which is sponsored by all women's Republican Clubs in New York State. The scholarship is given to a young woman who will be majoring in Political Science, and is the only scholarship offered by the New York State University in Political Science. Any one desiring to make a contribution should contact Mrs. Raymond LeFever at Republican Headquarters, 16 John Street, Kingston.

The next meeting of the Club will be held in September.

'Stop the Stretcher' Scheduled Tonight and Thursday at KHS

Kingston Hospital Auxiliary's follies, "Stop the Stretcher," opens tonight at Kingston High School auditorium.

The event is the major fund raising project for the benefit of the Hospital this year, and is being presented by the Auxiliary in conjunction with the organization's 75th anniversary celebration.

Director of the follies is Chris Carter who has produced more than 10 revues throughout the country for Jerome Cargill Productions. Carter has appeared in several Broadway plays, as well as Studio One and Kraft Theatre programs before becoming associated with Cargill productions 18 years ago.

The follies will be repeated tomorrow night at KHS auditorium.

Look Here Homemaker

THE STAFF OF LIFE

Few foods are eaten as often as bread and the daily consumption of bread is estimated to be the equivalent of about five slices per person, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. This could mean buying about 256 pounds of bread and bread-type rolls each year for an average family group consisting of 3.2 persons.

Close to one half of the total domestic production of wheat is used for bread and related products.

All wheat is not the same. There are hard, soft, and durum wheats. It is the hard wheat flour which is primarily used for bread and rolls. This hard wheat accounts for two thirds of the total domestic wheat used for food. Soft wheats are used primarily for making cakes, crackers, biscuits and other pastry products. Durum wheats are used for making macaroni, spaghetti and other pasta products.

Creation of new bakery products has led to exacting demands for hard and soft wheats and consequently one type of wheat has become less easily substituted for another.

What is meant by enriched bread? Some nutrients of wheat are lost with the removal of the bran when white flour is milled thus reducing the level of B vitamin and iron. As a result, bakers add these three important B vitamins — thiamin, riboflavin, and niacin — and the mineral iron, to white bread in amounts similar to or somewhat higher than that found in whole wheat breads. Bread may contain certain preservatives which are added as a safe means of retarding growth of molds and spoilage.

Addition of these nutrients does not change the retail cost, appearance, flavor or caloric content of the finished bread.

Enrichment of flour and bread has been one of the factors that has led to the disappearance of dietary deficiency diseases caused by the lack of B vitamins in the U.S.

New York State and many other states require that white bread be enriched. New York State also requires bread to be sold by weight and to be manufactured, prepared, stored, distributed in a sanitary manner. The cost per pound of bread varies with size of loaf, brand, type and freshness of bread.

Large loaves of a given brand and type, cost less per pound than smaller loaves. This could mean a price difference of two cents on a very loaf purchased. Loaves of similar weight differ considerably in cost among brands. The price difference can vary from 2-6 cents. Over a period of year's time, savings could mount up for families that can use the larger lower-priced brand loaves.

Day-old bread often costs less than fresh bread and may be economical for French or Melba Toast, crumbs, stuffing or bread pudding. Some markets date their bread so you can identify the day-old bread. Bakers usually code bread packages with baking date as a guide to keeping products fresh on grocery shelves.

SPECIAL DIETARY BREADS usually cost more per pound than white enriched bread. These include such breads as salt-free and bread made without sugar. "Low-calorie" breads are often lower in calories because they are sliced thinner. Special dietary claims made for any bread must be explained on the label as prescribed by federal and New York State laws.

RAISIN BREAD is more expensive than some other breads. Raisin bread must have no less than 50 parts by weight of seed or seedless raisins for each 100 parts by weight of flour.

Hamburger and bread-type rolls can greatly add to the money spent for bread products. Depending upon brand, shape, packaging and ingredients, the price difference on weight comparison (1 pound) can vary from 4-40 cents for bread-type rolls.

Distaff Digest

Elected President

The Saugerties Jaycees announce that their president, Mrs. John Lawrence, has been elected District 11, Division 11 Jaycee president for the ensuing year. As district president, Mrs. Lawrence will preside over and advise locals from Kingston, Hudson, New Paltz, and Saugerties, high honor for a Jaycee to receive.

During Mrs. Lawrence's term of office as Saugerties Jaycee president, the local has increased its membership from 15 in June 1968 to 32 in April 1969. This is the highest membership Saugerties has ever attained. The local has assisted the Jaycees on 15 of their projects this year. These included the Christmas Ballet, a Christmas party for mentally retarded children, the Sports Spectacular, Winter Carnival, Easter Egg Hunt, and the July 4th Celebration, among many others.

Under Mrs. Lawrence's leadership, the Saugerties Jaycees introduced 12 new projects this year besides successfully carrying out their annual projects. The group had a Toys for Tots Drive.

Fashion Show, Tote-All Bag Sale, Jaycee Cookbook Sale, fruitcake sale, sweetmobile and bake sale, Baby Picture Contest, Santa's Mailbox, Pennies for Project Concern Drive, Operation Laughter Project, and Jaycee 3rd of July Celebration. An Amblyopia Course, Leadership Training Course, and first year Spokette Competition were also given. Saugerties has submitted awards forms to the State Jaycee Organization in each of the main categories in hopes of placing first in many of the available areas.

Mrs. Lawrence has promoted good will and mutual understanding among all members of the Jaycee local. She has maintained all year that the main function of the Saugerties Jaycees is to "Aid the Jaycees," and she has accomplished this by the number of projects conducted. She has given of herself and her talents toward the betterment of the organization. The Saugerties Jaycees are "indebted to Mrs. John Lawrence for she is a credit to an organization and a fine leader for the District 11 Division 11 Jaycees."

Officers Re-elected

Present officers of Town of Olive Women's Club were re-elected for the 1969-70 year. They are Grace Wolff, president; Ellen Schmoekel, vice president; Arline Tisch, secretary; Alice Cruthers, treasurer; and Kathryn Scherrer, program director.

A covered dish luncheon will be held Tuesday, May 27 at the final meeting.

On Tuesday, June 10, the Club will hold its spring luncheon at the Garden Gate in Oliveria, starting at 12:30 p.m. Those wishing to attend should contact President Grace Wolff, Boiceville, for reservations.

Articles made by members of the Club for the June 28 Fair should be brought to the library on June 24 after 10:30 a.m. The Club will have a fancy goods table and a food table at the "Ye Olde Country Fair" sponsored by the Olivebridge Explorers 4-H Club at the Town of Olive Recreation Center.

After lunch the members heard an interesting talk by Mrs. Vera Stickler regarding the Town of Olive.

Plan Campaign to Raise $2,000

UCCC Will Send Golf Team to Nationals

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College has announced a three-pronged drive to raise $2,000 to underwrite the cost of sending the golf varsity to the 1969 NJCAA National Golf Tournament at Roswell, New Mexico.

"We have definitely decided to send the team to New Mexico," said Wolf. "Our president, Dr. George Erbstein, the administration and student body enthusiastically support the idea."

"Now," he added, with a long pause, "we have to raise $2,000. We figure that's the minimum amount needed to finance the trip for the five members of the golf team and Coach Mike Perry."

Wolf said the athletic department would conduct the fund-raising campaign and hoped to raise the amount through three sources: (1) a donation from the Ulster County Community College Association; (2) appeal to faculty and students; and (3) public subscription.

The UCCC golfers posted a combined score of 420 to lead a field of 16 schools in the Region XV championships last weekend at Kutters in Monticello and qualify for the National Junior College Championship.

David Blakely, the team's No. 1 shooter, led with a 38-38-76. The leader was Ted Vallo of Dutchess with 76.

Willie Back With Bang

(By United Press International) their sixth straight. Jim Nash was tagged with his second loss.

The prodigal son returned and the Detroit Tigers gathered momentum for a crack at the richest World Series payoff in baseball history.

Willie Horton, who drew a heavy fine for bolting the team last Thursday and missing four games, was welcomed by his teammates with open arms Tuesday night. He responded with three RBI's as the world champion Tigers edged the Chicago White Sox, 7-6, for their fourth consecutive triumph.

If Detroit can repeat as world series champs each regular season should earn a total of $15,000, including division playoff money.

Willie drove in two runs with a double during a five-run Detroit uprising in the first inning. He sent in another with a sixth inning single.

In other American League games, Minnesota edged Baltimore, 3-2 in 13 innings, Washington shaved Seattle, 6-5. New York topped Oakland, 2-1 and Cleveland defeated Kansas City, 4-1.

Jim Northrup also drove in two Detroit runs with a first-inning single and the Tigers went on to a 7-1 lead before Chicago rallied for five runs in the eighth inning. Earl Wilson, with help from three relievers, won his second game in six decisions. Tommy John took his first loss after three victories. Woodie Held homered for Chicago.

Jim Kaat drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 13th inning and Ron Perranoski saved the Minnesota southpaw's third victory when Baltimore rallied in the bottom half of the frame. Harmon Killebrew's ninth homer helped end the Twins' four game losing streak and stop Baltimore's five-game winning skid. Marcelino Lopez took the loss after giving up the two 13th-inning runs.

Mike Epstein made up for three consecutive strikeouts by hitting a two-run homer for Washington in the eighth inning. It was Epstein's ninth homer of the year and overcame a 5-4 Pilots' lead. Bernie Allen also crashed a two-run homer for the Senators as reliever Dennis Higgins evened his record at 3-3. Marty Pattin lost his second game against five victories.

Frank Fernandez's two-run homer in the second inning was the margin Fritz Peterson needed for his sixth victory. The New York southpaw limited Oakland to five hits, including Dick Green's fifth-inning homer as the Yanks won hitter at Kansas City and struck out seven en route to his third win of the year. Jose Cardenal's homer and Ray McDowell threw a two-seventh inning homer.

Prince in the Belmont?

NEW YORK (AP) — The turf world was stirred by reports to day that Majestic Prince, the winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, will try for racing's Triple Crown after all.

There was as much speculation over the report that Frank McMahon, owner of the unbeaten colt, had changed his mind as there as last Sunday when he announced he would not run Majestic Prince in the Belmont

Stakes at Belmont Park on June 7.

The Belmont, at a testing 1 1/2 miles, is the final leg in the Triple Crown and no colt has been able to sweep the Derby, Preakness and Belmont in the 21 years since Citation did it in 1948.

The New York Times, in a story bylined by Steve Cady, quoted McMahon as saying over the telephone from Palm Beach, Fla., that "we're going to give him a chance to win the Triple Crown. If he's ready and able to run in the Belmont, he'll run."

However, while McMahon was not available for comment on the story, Edna Resky, his secretary, declared "we don't know how that report got started. The horse definitely isn't running in the Belmont."

Holtzman Extends "O" Streak to 33

(By United Press International) Ken Holtzman missed out on the "year of the pitcher" celebration last season. Now he's throwing his own party.

Last season, in a year in which Detroit's Dennis McLain won 31 games and six other major league pitchers won more than 20 games, Holtzman couldn't even break even, posting an 11-14 mark. He's determined to change things this season. Holtzman pitched a five-hitter Tuesday night and run his record to 7-1 as the Chicago Cubs, the National League's Eastern Division leaders, blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-0.

The shutout, Holtzman's fourth of the season, extended his scoreless string of innings to 33 and helped him become the first National League pitcher to win seven games.

John "Blue Moon" Odom of the Oakland Athletics has won seven in the American League.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis blanked San Francisco 3-0. Pittsburgh downed San Diego 6-3. Houston shut out Montreal 5-0 and Cincinnati topped Philadelphia 4-0. Atlanta and New York were not scheduled.

Holtzman, a 23-year-old left-hander who began his career with the Cubs by pitching on his Northwestern college weekends, has not allowed a run since the Dodgers scored on him on May 6.

Billy Williams drove in two runs with a seventh-inning double and Ernie Banks and Randy Hundley hit back-to-back homers in the ninth inning as the Cubs beat Don Sutton for the 21st consecutive time without a defeat.

Banks drove in two runs to take over the league lead in RBIs with 31.

Bob Gibson pitched his fourth straight complete game and held San Francisco to four hits as St. Louis beat the Giants.

Gibson allowed only four singles in recording his fifth victory against two losses. Singles by Mike Shannon, Jim Hicks and Dal Maxvill in the second accounted for one run and Curt Flood drove in the other two with a third-inning homer and a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Manny Sanguillen and Fred Patek tripped to highlight a four-run rally with two out in the fourth inning and the Pirates snapped a five-game losing streak with their victory over the Padres.

Sanguillen tripled home Roberto Clemente, on with a fielder's choice, and after Bill Mazeroski's single, Patek followed with his triple. Winning pitcher Jim Bunning singled home the fourth run of the inning.

Denis Menke drove in three runs with a triple and a single and Larry Dierker pitched a four-hitter as Houston beat Montreal.

Menke singled in a run in the first and drove home two more in the third when he followed Jim Wynn's single and Norm Miller's double with his three-base hit.

Dutchess Tops UCCC In Finale

Ulster County Community College's newly-crowned Region XV golf champions dropped a 395-409 decision to Dutchess Community in their final match of the season here Tuesday.

Coach Mike Perry's swingers completed their winning campaign with a 7-4 record overall 3-2 and third place in Mid-Hudson Conference play.

Orange County captured the championship with a perfect 5-0 mark and Dutchess was second at 4-1.

Dave Blakely, UCCC's No. 1 man, tied the highly touted Heinz Mews and Ted Vallo of Dutchess for medalist honors with 73 but a disastrous 95 by Ulster No. 2 man, Kevin Capalbo, was a big blow.

Mews was out in 33 on the par 36-35-71 Beacon Country Club layout with Blakely hitting 38. On the second nine, the Ulster ace matched par figures while Mews soared to a 40. Vallo, medalist in the recent regionals, was more consistent with 38-35 for his 73.

Ray Lindhorst, the basketball ace, turned in his best showing of the season for Ulster with a sparkling 36 on the back nine and 79 overall.

Terry McGinnis posted 40-36-76 for Dutchess.

The match was played in intermittent thunderstorms and high winds. Play was interrupted for about a half hour at one stage.

The summaries:
Ulster (409) — Blakely, 38-35-73; Capalbo, 51-44-95; Dan Powell, 41-40-81; Ed Bardua, 41-40-81; Ray Lindhorst, 43-36-79. Dutchess (395) — Mews, 33-40-73; Vallo, 38-35-73; McGinnis, 40-36-76; Jim Moore, 46-42-88; Dave Conklin 42-43-85.

OCS Tops Sawyers

WOODSTOCK
John Buoymaster carded an even par-35 to lead Onteora Central to an easy 160-190 victory over visiting Saugerties High Tuesday at the Woodstock Country club links.

The tall Onteora ace's card showed two birdies, two bogeys and five pars. He birdied the par-three 4th and par-four 6th. Vlad Hoyt turned in a 38 for Onteora.

Steve Benham (43) and Donald Treat (47) led the Sawyers.

Onteora is now 7-5 overall and 4-1 in the UCCAL after dropping its first four matches. Coach Rick Barthel's Indians play Highland at Lake Mohonk Thursday.

The scores:
Onteora (160) — John Buoymaster 35, Howie Gordon 44, Scotty Dean 43, Vlad Hoyt 38.
Saugerties (190) — Steve Benham 43, Donald Treat 47, Dennis Stenson 50, Alan Whitaker 50.

3-Hit Game For Ferraro

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mike Ferraro had his biggest night at the plate since taking over the third base slot for the Rochester Red Wings with three hits in five trips in the Wings' 7 to 3 victory over Buffalo Tuesday night.

Ferraro's two-run double highlighted a three-run Rochester uprising in the sixth inning that wiped out a 3-1 Buffalo lead.

Frank Peters sent home the tie-breaking run with a sacrifice fly, then hit a two-run homer in the eighth that sent the Bisons down to their seventh straight International League defeat.

Ferraro, former New York Yankee and Seattle Pilot, also drilled two singles, nit back to the box and was robbed of another extra baser when Sam Bowens, former Baltimore Oriole outfielder, corralled his hard shot to deep right in his last turn at bat.

Ferraro's three hits boosted his average to .500 (7 for 14) since he made his debut in the Red Wings lineup on May 16.

In other IL action, Billy Conigliaro showed signs of shaking his slump he had been in since demotion from the Boston Red Sox with a pair of home runs and five runs batted in as the Louisville Colonels overpowered the Tidewater Tides 14-5 and boosted their lead to a full game over idle Toronto.

The Richmond Braves turned back the Columbus Jets 8-6 on pinch hitter Bob Turvill's grand slam and the Toledo Syracuse game was rained out.

In the first 10 games he played for Louisville after being sent down by Boston, Conigliaro had just seven hits in 36 times at bat for a .194 average and four runs batted in.

The two homers Tuesday night, his first for the Colonels, lapped his batting average to

.225 and more than doubled his RBI production. He hit a three-run drive in the third inning and a two-run shot in the fourth.

Lee Allen Dies; Was Historian At Hall of Fame

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Lee Allen, historian of the baseball Hall of Fame for almost 20 years, is dead at age 54.

Allen, who died Tuesday at St. Joseph's hospital after an apparent heart seizure, was the author of numerous articles and a dozen books about baseball. He collaborated recently on the "New Official Encyclopedia of Baseball," which is being published this summer.

Authorities said Allen was stricken while driving through Syracuse from Cincinnati, where he had presented an award in ceremonies honoring the all-time baseball team of the Cincinnati Reds.

He was taken to the hospital, where he died hours later.

Allen worked on several newspapers in Ohio and New York after a period with the public-relations staff of the Cincinnati Reds. He joined the Reds in 1939 after graduation from Kenyon College.

Charge DePaula In Theft Ring

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Boxer Frankie DePaula, one of five men arrested by the FBI on charges of stealing copper from interstate shipments, faced an uncertain ring future today in addition to the criminal charges lodged against him.

DePaula, a popular light heavyweight from Jersey City, was scheduled to face Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

The New York State Athletic Commission met today and was expected to issue a ruling after studying the charges against DePaula. If DePaula is suspended by the commission pending disposition of the charges, he will be replaced on the card by Brazilian Juarez De Lima.

Fullmer and DePaula were scheduled for the 10-round semifinal bout on the Nino Benvenuti-Dick Tiger card.

Also arrested were DePaula's manager, Anthony J. Garafalo; John F. DiMaio, owner of a night club where DePaula works; John D. Gardener and Max L. Griesler.

DePaula, who recently was stopped by champion Bob Foster in the first round of a light heavyweight title match, and Garafalo were released from custody after posting $25,000 bail each. Gardener and Griesler were both free under $10,000 bond and DiMaio remained in custody with bond set at $10,000.

DePaula's manager was expected to make an appearance before the New York Athletic Commission today to explain the situation.

The FBI charged the five men with stealing copper wire worth about $80,000 from Port Newark last year. They also were charged with possession of goods stolen from interstate shipment and conspiracy.

Junior Golf Classic Plans Seven Teams

Seven clubs have indicated they will sponsor teams in the Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic which opens its fourth season June 25 at the Red Hook Golf Club.

The seven include defending champion Wiltwyck Country Club of Kingston; The Twaalfskill Club, Windy Brook at Valatie; Columbia Country Club, Catskill; Red Hook and Woodstock.

Windham Country Club and the Sawyerkill Country Club of Saugerties were represented at the initial organization meeting here and are expected to make a decision by the next meeting.

M. Leslie Denning of Woodstock, the league founder, was re-elected president. Also re-elected were: Werner Kolln, Wiltwyck vice president; and Mrs. Clarence Beehler, Jr. of Red Hook, secretary-treasurer.

"It looks like our greatest year ever," said Denning, the retired Wall Street broker, who makes his summer residence in Woodstock. "We have seven teams definitely in the fold and should pick up at least one more."

Tentative tournament dates include: June 25, Red Hook; July 2, Woodstock; July 8, Catskill; July 14, Twaalfskill; July 25, Wiltwyck. Other dates will be announced at the next meeting.

Show horse, four lengths behind Bellissima was Lady Circo, piloted by her trainer, Marcel Lefebvre, returning $6.20.

Dapper Lindsay was guided by Burton through a field of madly breaking competitors until the half, which was run in 1.05 flat, where he took the lead, never to relinquish it.

Almost the same type of race was run by Bellissima, but Broglio made his move a fraction of a second too late. The contest between Bellissima and Dapper Lindsay was interesting, and would indicate that Bellissima is the one to watch. Her lifetime winning record is 2:11.3, racked up last year, in contrast to a life-mark of 2:06.3 for Dapper Lindsay also set in 1968. In tonight's race, Bellissima shaved her record by two seconds flat, but Dapper Lindsay ran the course in three seconds flat over his best winning time.

In last night's daily double at the Mighty M, the combination was 6 in the first race linked with 2 in the second for a payoff of $43.60.

Woodstock Vols to Wash Down Street

WOODSTOCK
Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 announced a community service project to wash down the main street in this community on Sunday, May 25, at 6 a.m. All Woodstock companies are invited to participate.

Several other projects and events scheduled by the fire company were announced at the recent meeting.

Chief Duncan Wilson reported that the firemen responded to 12 calls during April. He also noted there would be an officers meeting Wednesday.

The annual fire conference at Colonie will be held the weekend of May 17 and 18. All those planning to attend the meeting will meet at Company No. 1 fire station at 7:30 a.m. on both days.

It was announced that at the four company meetings it was decided to purchase jackets. Anyone interested may contact Henry Eighmy.

Fire Chief Wilson also cautioned parents to curb their children from playing with fire. It had been reported that children may be setting the brush and grass fires in recent weeks.

Capt. Robert Ribenburg reported there would be a fire drill on Tuesday 6 p.m. at Company No. 1 station.

The Truck Committee reported that the chassis for the equipment truck has not yet arrived and that the pump and tank installation for this truck would take about 90 days.

Joseph Holdridge, coach of the department sponsored Babe Ruth League announced that any boy in the Woodstock area between 13 and 15 may try out for the teams on Wednesday 6:30 p.m. at Andy Lee Memorial Field.

The Fire Company will march in the Memorial Day parade in Woodstock. The parade will start at 12 noon.

Dear Abby

Raising Kids on Phone

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We have a woman in our office who is raising her kids on company time over the telephone. At least six times a day we can hear her yelling, "Get those kids out of the house! Your high boots are in the back closet behind the sleeping bags! Tell Stevie I want to talk to him. Then she screams, "Steven, you go right over to Jimmy's house and get your bicycle. You know I told you nobody is to ride that bike but you!"

Twenty minutes later SHE calls home and wants to know if Judy came home from school yet, and did she bring her boyfriend in the house?

Just now I heard her holler, "That dog would never bite if you didn't tease him. Did he break the skin? Is it bleeding? If it's not bleeding, don't bother me." BANG!

I have nothing against working mothers, Abby, but what do you think of women who work and leave their kids to raise themselves?

CO-WORKER
DEAR CO-WORKER: Same as you.

DEAR ABBY: As you can see, this letter is signed "Miss Barbara." However, I am not a "female" in the true sense of the word. In fact, I am a woman "imprisoned" in a man's body. I have inquired about a sex change operation, but there is a long waiting list. I hold down a man's job, but after work I don feminine attire and my whole life changes. I am now considering seeking employment as a female. I know I could easily pass for a woman as I am small and feminine looking and have had total electrolysis on my face, and my voice is more like a woman's than a man's.

My question: In filling out an application for employment, am I within my rights to write "CONFIDENTIAL" where it asks, "SEX?" A lawyer friend of mine says I am. Will you advise, please?

"MISS BARBARA"
DEAR "MISS BARBARA": Better check with another lawyer. And consider this. Even though you may be "within your rights" legally, whether you'd be hired with that kind of an answer is another question.

DEAR ABBY: I can't understand my boyfriend. We have gone steady for 4 years, and I've known him nearly all my life.

He is a doctor and in a good position to marry, but he has never proposed to me. Every time I talk about marriage he changes the subject. He doesn't date anyone else and neither do I. I am really not even engaged.

I have tried everything. (Making him think there could be somebody else interested in me, which there isn't and taking a job in another city, which I also wouldn't consider.) I am 25 and woman "imprisoned" in a

What should I do?
UP A CREEK
DEAR UP: Face it, your doctor's prescription for happiness doesn't include you. YOU propose to HIM, but be prepared to hear the awful truth.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY MAY 22, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You make right moves if inner feelings are heeded. Be positive. Applies especially in dealing with opposite sex. Creative resources come to fore. You are rewarded for doing work you like.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Day to build for future. Study long-range projects. Person with experience is talking sense. Know this — and act accordingly. Prestige rises if you display responsible attitude.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Accent on versatility, ability to put ideas to work. Excellent for dealing with close relatives. Take initiative. Be optimistic. Short journey proves beneficial.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Best to be receptive. Rise above petty annoyances. Your intuitive judgment is good. Answers today come from within. Money picture continues favorable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Bring forth sense of balance, humor. You are in better position than might be imagined. You can successfully initiate projects. Accent independence of thought, action.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Outline project, especially in activity connected with charitable organization. Fund-raising ideas can be articulated. Be thorough — avoid trap of jealousy. Key is objectivity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Delightful experience with friends is indicated. Much of this made possible by frank exchange of ideas. Accent on enjoying what you do. You get new lease on life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Genuine opportunity exists for gain. One familiar with your capabilities plays instrumental role. Be diplomatic, but firm. Means combine charm with determination.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You tend to procrastinate. Know difference between creative thinking and mere stalling. Get busy on travel or vacation plans, activity. You get news from a distance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Day features power — nothing halfway. You make decision — it must be carried through. Means don't fool with halfway methods. Sight goal: get co-operation from mate, partner. Get going.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): end of a project is in sight. Special agreement can be attained. But be sure you are familiar with legal nuances. Leave nothing to chance. Get expert advice.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): New work procedures solve dilemma. LEO individual proves of aid. Spotlight for you is on obtaining co-operation. Steady pace is necessary. Gain shows if you adhere to basic objectives.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are an unusual person, willing to tear down in order to rebuild. Much of what has caused you to brood in recent weeks will be corrected. Hang on. You will emerge a winner.

In IMP play, as in rubber bridge, the accent in play is on making your contract. The winning IMP player tends to make safety plays in order to assure his contract.

Today's hand shows Paul Soloway violating this principle on the theory that an overtrick is likely to represent one IMP and there is no point sacrificing even one IMP needlessly.

Paul found himself in a reasonable four-spade contract after his partner had cue bid the enemy's heart suit. He went right up with dummy's ace of hearts and promptly led a spade to his king. Then he led a second spade and played low from dummy. This play is known as the obligatory finesse. There is no reason to play high and the play of the low card may force the ace, which is just what happened here.

East cashed his king of hearts and continued with the ace of diamonds. Paul ruffed and after drawing West's last trump proceeded to make the rest of the tricks. Five odd was worth 20 points and one IMP. At the other table North had played three no-trump and made four.

A kibitzer wanted to know why Paul hadn't simply discarded on the ace of diamonds to make sure of his contract in case clubs had broken 4-0.

Paul replied that he knew he would have gone down on his play if all four clubs had shown up in the West hand but he was certain that they wouldn't be there. Paul pointed out that if East had two spades and no clubs, he would have held a very good two-suit hand and would surely have found a bid over North's two hearts.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TIME TO TELL: (Q.) I've been going with this guy for almost two years. For a long time I've been sneaking out for dates with him. My parents don't approve of him because he's of another nationality. In their books this makes him no good.

Now he's asked me to marry him. I'm 18 and he's 19 and we love each other. We want to spend our lives together.

But I'm afraid of what my parents will say and do. How can I make them understand how we feel?—A. in Birmingham, Ala.

(A.) The chances are that your parents will erupt when you tell them what you've been doing and want to do.

However, before they find out from someone else, go ahead and discuss the whole thing, including marriage, openly with them.

If they are still completely negative (and they well may be), then you will have to decide if the boy is worth the hurt and the heartache, and act accordingly.

BEATEN: (Q.) My father is an alcoholic. He beat my mother and made her go to work. She finally had to go to a mental hospital.

Now he beats us kids all the time. I'm 12 and the oldest. If this keeps up I'll end up where my mother is.

Please help me!—Going Crazy in an Eastern City.

(A.) You must find help. If there's no close relative you can go to, you must go elsewhere.

There are two people you can safely ask for help. One is your guidance counselor at school and the other is a minister.

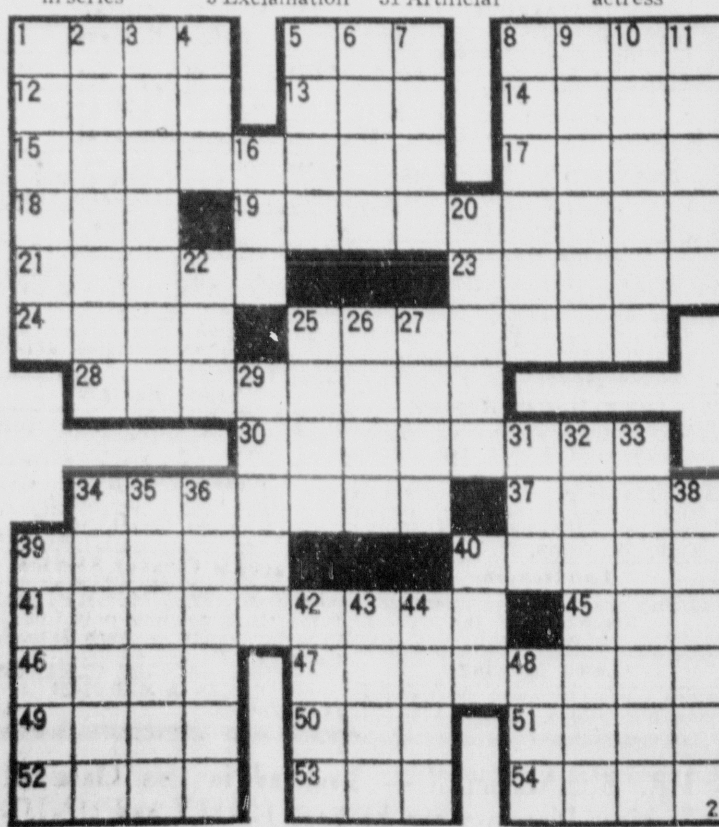

If you have no church and do not know a minister, get the name of one from a friend.

Do not be ashamed, and try not to be afraid. This is something you have to do.

Bracken's World—New Try

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Bracken's World," a new series scheduled for NBC-TV in the fall, is about the behind-the-scenes activities at a movie studio, but to the television industry, the behind-the-scenes story of the history of the series may be more fascinating than the show itself.

Part of this history was outlined the other day by NBC-TV President Don Durbin in an address at the Los Angeles convention of the network's affiliates. Herewith his remarks:

"In June, 1963, Twentieth Century-Fox presented to the ABC Television Network the following projects: 'Peyton Place,' 'Twelve O'Clock High,' 'Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea,' 'Valentine's Day,' and a unique idea about Hollywood entitled 'Bracken's World.' Only 'Bracken's World' was rejected.

Head of Studio. "Bracken is the head of a major motion picture studio. He was to be central character and the star of the series.

Undaunted, in 1965, Twentieth Century-Fox presented 'Bracken's World' to CBS along with the writing team of the 'Ravettes.' The 'Ravettes' wrote 'Hud,' 'Hombre' and many other big pictures, and 'Bracken's World' was the only television project they were interested in developing. The story and script they wrote became too much of an 'Executive Suite' and CBS did not go forward to pilot.

Undaunted, in 1966, Fox presented 'Bracken's World' to NBC, with the possibility of James Poe, Academy Award winner, writing the pilot script, and Spencer Tracy appearing as the head of the studio.

Tracy advised us that he had to do a picture called 'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner,' but he was interested in 'Bracken's World.' Unfortunately, Tracy's death canceled the project and it was felt that the 'Poe script would no longer work.

Took the Plunge. "Undaunted, in 1967, NBC and Fox once again took the plunge and ordered a new script by J. P. Miller, the distinguished writer of 'Days of Wine and Roses.' The Miller script was excellent but by this time both NBC and Fox had decided on an entirely new approach to 'Bracken's World,' a new approach which would stress the young people of Hollywood and try to convey the motion picture world as it is today, not as most people remember it from the golden era.

Once again 'Bracken's World' was postponed. In 1968, slightly daunted, NBC and Fox commissioned a new script by Dorothy Kingsley, the noted Hollywooden's World."

KINGSTON

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency was given a way to build a parking garage within its budget Tuesday by a New York City contractor. The agency must now decide whether or not it wants to accept the offer.

Herbert M. Berman, an executive with Volume Indoor Parking Inc. of New York City, addressed the agency in the morning and later spoke on the same subject, his company's garage, to a group of Uptown businessmen.

Berman's company had submitted what was termed a "non conforming bid" last Friday, a bid that was a million dollars below what bids were on the agency's specifications on the garage to be built on North Front Street.

Berman spoke of the K-Construction method of building parking garages, a system used extensively in New York City. He said it is a composite of concrete and steel that because of its design is lighter, stronger and uses less concrete and steel than the type of garage specified by the agency.

Berman said his company would offer "a complete bonded performance job" and submit to any and all inspections by the agency's engineers.

$800,000 Approximate Tab

The company, if granted the contract, would build the garage for approximately $800,000. This compares with a low bid of $1,838,000 on the agency's specification by an Albany contractor.

Berman said Volume Indoor Parking, as general contractor, would be responsible for the overall job but would employ local firms to sub-contract such items as electrical and heating, steel and concrete. The company will bring in its own foreman and will have a job supervisor on site at all times. "We like to use local labor as much as possible," Berman told the agency.

Berman's building is smaller in square footage than what the agency had planned and will be set back 50 feet from North Front Street and 95 feet from the proposed Fair Street Extension. The building is designed to park 403 cars.

Berman said one of the reasons his company can get more cars in less space is that it uses 90-degree parking instead of the 60 per cent specified by the agency in its original designs for the building. Berman said the 90-degree parking was safer, allowed for faster and easier egress and entrance and represented an 18 per cent space saving.

Berman also told the agency that his company had reviewed the agency's soil test studies on the site of the proposed garage and was "99 per cent sure" that pilings for its structure would not be needed. He did suggest, that the agency conduct soil strength tests on the ground.

Another Suggestion

Berman also suggested that the agency consider a closed circuit television setup in the garage which would spot empty parking spaces, protect against theft and fire and could be purchased at a cost of approximately $30,000.

In conclusion, Berman said, "I think when you're through you'll have a good garage under your budget instead of over it."

Members of the agency are expected to travel to New York City with the agency's engineers to inspect garages built under the K-Composite system by Volume Indoor Parking Inc.

Mayone Seeks 'Winning' Data

KINGSTON Mayone suggests that area residents wait until word has been received from the Los Angeles sheriff's office, before any money is sent. He also asks area residents to either notify the district attorney's office or city police of the receipt of the Hawaii vacation notice and also anyone who has sent money to report to authorities so that their names may be known.

Meanwhile, word is awaited here from Los Angeles authorities and from postal authorities, who also have been notified and are reportedly investigating.

It was reported by residents that they had received notice that their names had been drawn as winners of the vacation to Hawaii and enclosed with the notice is a certificate the winner is asked to fill out and return with $25.

Fatal in Red Hook

RED HOOK
A New Jersey man was killed Tuesday afternoon on Rt. 9G near Bard College when his tractor trailer truck went off the road in a heavy rainstorm and slammed into a tree.

The body of Raymond Nelson, 31, of 60 Cambridge Avenue, Jersey City, N.J., was taken to the Hand Funeral Home in Red Hook after the fatal accident.

Rhinebeck State Police, under the direction of Sgt. Thomas Clark, investigated the accident. According to Sgt. Clark, the truck was only 500 feet from its Bard College destination when it hit a soft shoulder on the east side of the road, rolled down an embankment and hit a tree. The truck was loaded with 15 tons of cast iron water pipe. The load slid forward, crushing Nelson to death, according to state police. Sgt. Clark said it took 3½ hours to free the body.

According to Sgt. Clark, Nelson had been following an other tractor trailer loaded with pipe. He had been hired for the job in Jersey City only yesterday, the trooper reported. Sgt. Clark was assisted in the investigation of the accident by Troopers McCauliff, McNallen, Schmidt and members of the BCI.
